DISTRICT NURSE

To the Town of Westport.

Gentlemen:—

I beg to submit the following report for your consideration:

Financial conditions are always serious problems for nursing organizations and have been especially so to us during the past year, due, no doubt, to the general business conditions in our town and the surrounding cities. Fees collected during the year amounted to only $174.75 and our nursing care totaled $956. Compare the two! Yet imagine the comfort to these neighbors of ours who have found relief from pain and sickness without additional financial burden which lack of work would make it impossible to bear.

Our work has increased in activity and usefulness. Here are some of the figures:

Nursing care	956
Instruction	995
Investigations	811
Social Service	849
Patients accompanied to hospital	372
Total	4073

The Red Cross committee has been active and useful, as always. Its beneficent influence is more easily felt than described, for its way of doing good are many.

I take this opportunity to express to the citizens of the town my thanks and appreciation for their assistance and co-operation throughout the year and to the members of the Red Cross for their loyal support.

Respectfully submitted,
GLADYS MARY TATTERSALL, R. N.
Public Health Nurse.

FOREWORD

Education is the connecting link between our yesterdays and our todays. Yesterday we rode in wagons, plowed with oxen, harvested with the cradle, threshed with the flail, and read by candle light; today we ride in automobiles and airplanes, upheave the fields with tractors, harvest and thresh with one operation, read by electric light and acquire knowledge by radio. Education has developed our yesterdays into todays.

If there are schools and communities which are still in their yesterdays educationally because of lack of facilities, such as trained teachers, modern buildings, adequate equipment, proper safeguards and concern for health, morals, thrift, safety, and citizenship, then these conditions exist because of lack of local initiative and sentiment. Such handicap is unfair to the child, unnatural to the ambitions of parenthood and un-American in its very existence.

In gratitude of your prosperity, let your inquiring mind determine the educational opportunity of your community and pledge your influence and support to officials that your schools may be placed in the very today of todays and ready to meet the demand of the tomorrows.

BETTER SCHOOL LEAGUE, INC.

Report of the Superintendent of Schools

To the School Committee of the Town of Westport :

Gentlemen :

Custom demands that the Annual Report of the Superintendent of Schools shall be printed as, or with, the report of the School Committee. Therefore, in accordance with precedent, I am pleased to submit to you, and through you to the citizens of Westport, my second report, the thirty-third in the series of annual reports submitted by the superintendents of this town.

The schools as a whole are in a much better condition than they were a year ago. They are much better taught, and they are much better equipped for carrying on the activities of a modern educational program. As a committee of the people, you are responsible for a changed condition of which the citizens of Westport should feel proud. I take this occasion to call the matter to your attention, for, knowing as I do some of your plans for the welfare of the growing citizens of this town, I realize that along with the satisfaction that may come to you, engaged as you are in service to your fellow men with little or no thought of self, there will arise certain problems that may tend to dishearten you. Particularly is this so when the time for the Annual Town Meeting and the determination of the next year's tax rate draws nigh.

The people of Westport are good people. They love their children and they can be relied upon in every sense of the word to do all within their means to help those children to take their places as upright, loyal, American Citizens.

It so happens, however, that at this particular period in the educational history of our town, a comparatively large problem has been assigned to the School Committee, one that it may be difficult to solve all at once.

Westport is a growing community, particularly when it comes to the matter of school population. The children are here, and more are coming. Thus the problem resolves itself into two propositions:

1. To provide an opportunity for a good education for all of the children of all of the people of Westport.
2. To provide places where the educative process may be carried on.

It must be borne in mind that both of these objectives must be reached in view of an ever rising property valuation, and an ever increasing rate of taxation.

Your task is not an easy one. It is, however, a sacred trust, and I know that you ever hold it in charge as such.

With your permission, I shall address my further remarks concerning the school situation directly to the citizens.

It gives me pleasure and a certain sense of gratification to report to those of you who are most concerned about the welfare of the children, because they are your children, and to those of you who pay the bills, whether or not you may be so fortunate as to have children of your own. For your enlightenment, I shall here record what have seemed to me to be the most important forward steps that have been taken by the Westport School Department during the school year 1924-1925, together with certain recommendations, that I have made to the School Committee relative to the educational program in the Westport Schools for the year to come.

OBJECTIVES

Good citizenship has been the goal of all of the school activities that have been encouraged by the teachers of Westport during the year that has just drawn to a close. They have endeavored to foster the growth of miniature democracies in their classrooms, the bringing about of an atmosphere in which each pupil should have the best opportunity that the town could afford, together with all possible encouragement, to make the most of himself, and to feel under obligation to make his greatest contribution to the welfare of those with whom he lives.

The classrooms from the lowest grade to the highest have, once more, been dedicated to the Public Service to the end that all who may have entered them might live a more abundant life. The teachers have encouraged and helped the pupils to solve their own social problems, ever bearing in mind the needs of the pupils as growing citizens both as producers and as consumers. As a result of such activity on the part of the teachers, the pupils have acquired certain useful information, skills, habits, attitudes, and ideals that are not only of value to them at their present stage of development, but will also prove of assistance to them when they attack the problems of more mature life.

PROFESSIONAL GROWTH AND THE CURRICULUM

Realizing that the growing teacher will never get into a rut, your committee, provided in the budget of last year sufficient funds to defray the expense of a Course in Curriculum Building. This course is being given as a regular Massachusetts University Course and is under the immediate direction of Miss Cora A. Newton of the State Normal College at Bridgewater.

The subject of curriculum is, just at present, receiving as much intensive study as is any field of education. The Westport teachers constitute one of a large group of bodies of teachers from the Atlantic to the Pacific who are considering this important matter.

"Education is More Like Lighting a Lamp

Teachers everywhere feel the need of a curriculum that will be in accord with modern educational advancement.

In the earliest days, reading and writing were the curriculum of the Little Red School House. As time went on the subject of arithmetic was added and the activities of the school were largely confined to mastering the three R's. The text book, in a very large measure, determined the curriculum. Later, when the office of Superintendent of Schools was created, it was expected that he would organize a course of study and hand it down to his subordinates as if he were the fountain from which all knowledge flowed. Such courses of study were in the main organized with no specific aim to meet the needs of any particular community, and they were often borrowed in whole or by parts from other communities where it would appear that the schools were being conducted in a successful manner. Additions were made to such curricula from time to time to meet the demands of special groups or special interests, with the result that the course of study soon became a top heavy list of subject matter organized in a more or less logical manner.

Education in things spiritual and moral even more than education of the head and hand, is necessary to the making of the highest type of citizenship.

—Theodore Roosevelt.

For the past ten or fifteen years, a new type of curriculum has been gradually working its way into the foreground. It has been the outcome of the establishment of new objectives in education, such as, the broad social aims of good health, good will toward all of our situations, the wise use of our leisure time, and social service in our business, in the home, and in our civic life; and detailed phsycological aims, such as, useful information, correct habits, practical skills, many sided interests of a worth while nature, methods of work that call for economy of time and energy, and ideals that will help to make the world a better place in which to live.

We have come to realize that a child learns through the responses that he makes. We have discarded the idea that the pupils can transfer ability without help in making the application. The idea of formal discipline has been rejected, and interest and effort are known as one principle. We think that there is no true interest that does not result in effort, and that there is no true effort which is not a response to an impulse which direct or indirect interest gives, and which is not in line with the purpose which interest defines. We feel that interest and effort are not external to the self, and that our teachers cannot give interests to their pupils and that they cannot impose effort upon them. We do believe, however, that the teachers can help the pupils to discover situations, even if they have to be laid, in which the pupils may find their interests and that the teachers may also guide and encourage them in their efforts to accomplish their purposes. We know of the principles of habit formation, and we make use of them. We recognize the principle of individual differences, and we have learned that we cannot run all of the children through the same mold and turn them out at the end of the twelfth year prepared to attack the battles of life. We are certain that the function of the teacher is to help the children to solve their own social problems in the several communities of which they are members, more as a friend and as a helpful guide than as a drill master. We are of the opinion that subject matter is not the most important factor, and that education must result in a change in conduct in social situations, for the future of our American Democracy depends upon the character of its citizenship. It depends upon what our young men and our young women are, not altogether upon what they know.

"Education is the process of growing up in the right way. The objectives are the goals of growth. The pupil activities and experiences are the steps which make up his journey to those goals. The activities and experiences are the curriculum."

—Bobbitt.

The teachers of Westport are meeting as often as twice or three times each month in a co-operative way for the purpose of sharing in the building of a course of study for use of the Westport School Department that will be classed as an activities or conduct curriculum, and will represent the best thought of the combined educational resources of this town. They are to be congratulated upon the continuance of their most excellent professional spirit.

I recommend that all possible encouragement be given to our teachers to make professional improvement and to help build a course of study for our children.

IMPROVED GRADING

The budget of your committee also provided funds which have made it possible for the school department to secure the assistance of the Harvard University psycho-educational clinic for the purpose of helping our teachers the better to grade their pupils and to assist in the determination of which of our children should subsequently be examined by the mental clinic that is provided by our State Department of Education and our State Department of Mental Diseases in co-operation. The result has led to more homogenous groupings of our pupils, which in turn makes for greater opportunity for effective work both by pupil and by teacher.

HEALTH

During the year, continued emphasis has been placed upon the health of our pupils.

Health is Fundamental

Early in the fall Dr. Fredrika Moore of the State Department of Public Health came to Westport, at no expense to our town, for the purpose of helping our school physician to examine our children. Her report follows:

THE COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS

Department of Public Health
State House, Boston

November 3, 1925.

Mr. Fred Baldwin,
Supt. of Schools,
Westport, Mass.

My dear Mr. Baldwin:

Enclosed is the report on the physical examinations which I made in your schools. I hope that you have not become discouraged waiting for it. Probably you realize what a busy time the autumn is.

In thinking over my visit with you, there comes to my mind certain ideas which I should like to share with you. You have a very difficult township to handle because of the area and the large foreign population. Nevertheless, you are meeting your health problems with a courage and determination that is rapidly putting Westport to the front in school health work. There are, however, a few suggestions that I should like to make at this time:

1. That the schools be connected by telephone service. This would enable the nurse to receive calls more easily and it would also enable her to settle many difficulties by telephone and thus save her miles of travel.

2. That the two nurses work independently but co-operatively instead of one nurse acting as supervisor.

3. That the school physician be given whatever raise in salary the school committee see fit and that he be held strictly accountable for service in proportion to his salary.

4. That the dental work be concentrated on the lower grades.

5. That the health education work so well begun be continued and developed.

In closing, I want to add a word of appreciation for all the courtesy that you have shown.

Yours very sincerely,

(Signed) Fredrika Moore.

Fredrika Moore, M. D., Pediatrician.

The school nurse, Miss Gladys Tattersall, has covered our health work in detail in her report to me, but there is one feature of the health work that I feel duty bound to discuss before I close this section of my report.

Two play days were held during the year, one in the spring at Lincoln Park, and one at the time of the Westport Fair. The children from all sections of our town were brought together on these occasions. Thus, they were furnished an opportunity to become acquainted with each other, and the better to appreciate each other's efforts, particularly along the lines of physical education.

I believe that such play days help to motivate a type of activity that is today as much required by the educational law of our state as is the teaching of the three R's; and in addition, they tend to foster the growth of a real community spirit among the children which will eventually mean much to Westport, separated as it is geographically into many small villages.

I recommend that the work so well begun during the year 1924-1925 be continued during the year to come.

AGRICULTURAL EDUCATION

Last year, there appeared in the town warrant an article designed to bring the issue of agricultural education to a head. You decided to authorize the establishment of an agricultural department at the Westport High School, and to appropriate money to maintain it.

The following named residents of Westport were appointed by the School Committee to constitute an advisory board for the agricultural department:

Mr. John A. Smith, Chairman
Mr. Alexander Walsh, Secretary
Mr. Nelson Gifford
Mr. Stephen Howland
Mr. Roger Acheson
Mr. Antone Veira
Mr. Morris MacDonald

You will now be interested to learn that the State is aiding in the carrying out of this project by reimbursing the town an amount equal to two thirds of the salary that is paid to the instructor, Mr. Charles Oliver. I wish to call your attention to his first report to me which is printed within the covers of this book.

I recommend that the agricultural department at the High School be continued, and that the instructor be asked to supervise home and community gardens during the summer months.

OPPORTUNITIES FOR FURTHER EDUCATION

Some of the young men and the young women of Westport are being helped in their endeavor to get a further education by the fact that tuition is being paid to the city of Fall River, and to the city of New Bedford in order that they may attend continuation school or vocational school. There are in Westport, however, certain pupils who undoubtedly would profit by the experiences that they would get in the Bristol County Agricultural School, and there are also certain other pupils whose parents are looking forward to sending them to college, for whom a suitable course of study is not, at the present time, provided at our high school.

I recommend that consideration be given to the advisability of paying tuition for such pupils as can prove by the character of their work during their first two years at the Westport High School that they will best profit by work at the Bristol County Agricultural School or at a neighboring high school that offers a complete college preparatory course.

AMERICANIZATION WORK

"I do most anxiously wish to see education given to all so that they may read and understand what is going on in the world, and keep their part of it going right."

—Thomas Jefferson.

There are in our midst certain adult aliens who are very anxious to learn to read and to write our language, and to receive instruction in citizenship.

Your committee has adopted the legislation for adult immigrant education that is to be found in the Massachusetts General Laws Chapter 69, Sections 9 and 10. Amended May 27, 1921. Revised form of Chapter 295, Acts of 1919.

Section 9. The department, with the co-operation of any town applying therefor, may provide for such instruction in the use of English for adults unable to speak, read, or write the same, and in the fundamental principles of government and other subjects adapted to fit for American citizenship, as shall jointly be approved by the local school committee and the department. Schools and classes established therefor, may be held in public school buildings, in industrial establishments or in such other places as may be approved in like manner. Teachers and supervisors employed therein by a town shall be chosen and their compensation fixed by the school committee, subject to the approval of the department.

Section 10. At the expiration of each school year, and on approval by the department, the Commonwealth shall pay to every town providing such instruction in conjunction with the department, one half the amount expended for supervision and instruction by such town for said year.

I recommend that provision for adult alien education be continued.

PARENT-TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION

"We shall never secure full efficiency until the parents themselves will be satisfied with nothing less than the highest available standards of physical and mental fitness for their children."

During the year several interested parents and teachers led and guided in a large measure by Mrs. Doris Hutchinson, who was until last June, when she was called to a more lucrative field, the principal of the Factory School, organized themselves into the Westport Parent-Teachers' Association. They believe that the parents should become better acquainted with the teachers and with the activities that are carried on in the class rooms, and that the home and the school, by working together, will tend to conserve the best interests of the children.

Several meetings of worth while nature have been held, and more are planned for the future. Your committee encourages meetings of this sort by furnishing the place of meeting, heat, light, and janitor service. The most important

Usually Has a Plus Parent at Home

Compromise is Usually Unsatisfactory

offices in this association are held by Mr. Edward L. Macomber, the president, and Mrs. Harry Reed, the secretary.

I recommend that more parents and more teachers be encouraged to attend these meetings, and that the association be assisted in every possible way to function for the benefit of the pupils in the Westport schools.

CONDITION OF SCHOOL PROPERTY

The school property has in some instances been improved, but there are yet many conditions that call for other than ordinary repairs. In view of the fact that the finance committee recommended indefinite postponement of the article that was introduced into the warrant last year calling for a special appropriation for other than ordinary repairs, and indicated thereby their belief that such repairs should be taken care of gradually, and in view of your subsequent vote confirming their belief, it has seemed wise to adopt such a policy in compliance with your wishes. However, it will without doubt, be necessary for your committee to put the Macomers' Corner School into such condition that the seventh grade pupils from the southern part of our town may be there housed in September of this year.

BUILDING PROGRAM

You will remember that my last report advised you of the necessity of a housing survey, and that serious consideration should be given to a building program. Your committee has labored faithfully to find a solution to this problem. They have had the assistance of the State Department of Education, and the advice that I could give them in their efforts to find out what might best be done, giving full consideration to the educational welfare of the pupils and to the finances of the town. The findings of your committee are well expressed in a communication signed by Mr. Burr F. Jones, supervisor of elementary education, and Mr. Frank P. Morse, supervisor of secondary education, both of whom were sent here at the request of your committee by the commissioner of education, Dr. Payson Smith, to help determine what plan would best meet the needs of our growing school population. The letter follows:

THE COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS

Department of Education
State House, Boston

January 5, 1925

Mr. F. H. Baldwin,
Superintendent of Schools
Westport, Massachusetts.

Dear Mr. Baldwin:

We were glad of the opportunity to meet with the school officials of Westport for a conference in regard to certain school problems, and thereafter to visit a number of your schools.

We desire to commend certain progressive steps that you are taking in the administration of the schools. The plan of grading that is being carried out, whereby all the pupils in grades seven to twelve inclusive are brought to central schools, is in our opinion a great improvement over the earlier plan of maintaining all elementary grades in each district. Under present conditions, you are maintaining but three one-teacher schools, and aside from one of these schools no teacher has more than three different grades. The abandonment of one-teacher schools and the bringing of pupils in such districts to larger and graded schools is, in our opinion, very desirable wherever it is possible to provide satisfactory transportation facilities. That the state as a whole is recognizing this principle is evidenced by the fact that over one hundred towns and cities have entirely abandoned one-room schools, and by the further fact that less than three per cent of our school enrolment is in attendance at such schools. In the graded schools it is possible to obtain more effective and skilled instruction, and a much keener interest on the part of both pupils and teachers.

We desire also to commend certain features of your transportation system, and chiefly the fact that you are using motor vehicles for this purpose. A recent state-wide study of transportation conditions shows that the motor vehicle covers fifty per cent more mileage than the horse-drawn vehicle per unit, and it carries over twice as many children at one half the cost per pupil-mile.

We wish also to commend the efforts that Westport has made to provide the proper type of instruction for mentally retarded children. In establishing two rooms at Factory Village for this purpose, and transporting the pupils from various parts of the town to this school. I believe that Westport is doing as well as any town of its size in Massachusetts.

The chief needs of the Westport school system as we see them are for enlarged school accommodations in the northern section of the town, particularly in the Greenwood Park area, and for enlarged high school accommodations. The Greenwood Park section has grown in population so rapidly that it has been necessary to transfer one grade to the Factory Village school and to maintain at Greenwood Park two rooms of over forty pupils. At the time of our visit, grade one had forty-seven pupils. A class of this size, particularly a first grade, should be handled in two divisions with one teacher for each division. In the section where many of the children come from non-English speaking homes, it is probably desirable to establish a sub-primary grade in order that the language handicap may be earlier removed and the children better able to proceed through their elementary school grades at the normal rate of progress.

In view of this condition, we recommend that the Greenwood Park School should be enlarged so as to provide at least eight additional class rooms and a large room that can be used both as an assembly room and as a play room. Practically all of our new elementary school buildings of six rooms or more have assembly halls. In most cases, these are fitted with movable furniture so that they can also be used as play rooms. Such facilities are now coming to be regarded quite as essential in an elementary school as they are in a high school. With an addition of eight school rooms, this building would accommodate a sub-primary class, two divisions of the first grade, and each of grades two to six inclusive on the plan of one grade to the room. You would then have four rooms remaining.

We recommend for your consideration the abandonment of the building now being rented for special class pupils, and the transferring of these pupils to the Factory Village School, and the transferring of the two divisions of the seventh grade from the Factory School to the Greenwood Park School, if enlarged as proposed. If this were done you would still have two rooms to take care of the future growth at Greenwood Park. The transfer of the special class pupils to the Factory Village School would give them better conditions than they now have, with reference to heating, lighting, ventilation and sanitation. It would also eliminate the rental cost of this building which amounts to the interest on a ten thousand dollar investment.

After the enlargement at Greenwood Park has been completed, we recommend, as a next step in the development of your school plant, the enlargement of the high school accommodations. You now have but five regular class rooms in the present high school building, you have, however, seven full-time teachers and two part-time teachers serving at the school.

This has made it necessary to use for classroom purposes three basement rooms in which there is no satisfactory provision for ventilation. Temporarily this condition may be partially overcome by installing electric fans in these basement rooms and by flushing the rooms at regular intervals, by opening the windows. We feel, however, that the present arrangement should be considered as a temporary measure only, and that either a new junior-senior high school should be built, or the present building enlarged by the addition of needed classrooms, and a large room for assembly and gymnasium purposes. A modern high school includes not only assembly hall and gymnasium facilities, but equipment for manual training, domestic science, library work and a lunch room, in addition to the facilities that are now offered in your school.

The question of location arises in connection with the high school problem. From recent study made of this matter, it was found that sixty-six of the present high school enrolment live north of the high school, forty-three south, and ten in the immediate vicinity. The center of high school population, therefore, is somewhat north of its present location. If the population in the northern part of the town continues to grow as it has within the past two or three years, the question of proper location for the high school will become more and more acute and should be determined in the light of future developments. With enlarged high school accommodations, we should recommend that the seventh grade be included in the junior high school organization.

If the department can be of any further service to you in the consideration of these problems, we shall be glad to have you advise us.

Very truly yours,

(Signed) BURR F. JONES,
Supervisor of Elementary Education.

(Signed) FRANK P. MORSE,
Supervisor of Secondary Education.

You understand, of course, that the State Department of Education makes no demands, and that there are no "teeth" in the recommendations. The advice given above has been given with but one aim in mind, namely, to help you to know what it may be well for you to do in behalf of your own children.

There are at least two other ways of housing your children for the year to come, neither of which seems to be the best one to any of us who have considered the problem carefully. One plan calls for the erecting of portable school houses to be ready for occupancy in September, and the other plan is to make use of the Beulah School which is now closed and dismantled, and to put some of the grades at Greenwood School on double shift in the fall.

I recommend that you give the matter of housing your children serious consideration, that you may be in a position to act wisely when you are faced with the problem yourselves at the next town meeting.

TRANSPORTATION

Last year, I reported that the school trucks were crowded beyond reasonable physical and moral safety to the pupils. Your committee gave the matter serious consideration, and decided that it would be best to attempt to provide a seat for each pupil by arranging with the truck drivers to retrace on their routes for extra compensation and to add service where the greatest congestion was apparent. They also studied the advantages of the glazed-in body, and they have decided to introduce an article into the warrant that will put squarely up to you who vote, the proposition as to whether or not you are desirous of providing this type of transportation for your children, to the end that they may be more safe and more comfortable on the long hauls.

I recommend that you give the matter of transportation considerable study previous to the time of the town meeting. The pupils are your children, and you must decide what is best for them. We feel that it is our duty to advise, but not to demand.

DISCUSSION OF FINANCES

Your committee has been careful in the matter of the expenditure of your money. By the practice of wise economy, they have provided well for the pupils of the town, and they have been able to close the year with all the liabilities that were incurred during the year 1925, plus some liabilities that were left hanging over from the years gone by, fully discharged. By a careful study of the financial statement, you will note that they made no attempt to use the reimbursement money that was voted for their use on recommendation of the finance committee, and that they did not expend all of the money that was appropriated for their use in running the schools by your unanimous vote through regular channels. You will also observe that the actual cost to the town in dollars and cents raised by taxation was reduced by the sum of over five thousand dollars, that was reimbursed by the state of Massachusetts to the town treasury on account of the character of the educational activities that have been encouraged by your committee. You may look for a larger reimbursement and a corresponding reduction in the actual cost in money raised by local taxation next year, partially on account of plans that have already been carried out by your committee, and in a measure due to the plans for the year to come.

REPORTS OF THE DEPARTMENTS

Permit me to call your attention to the reports of the department heads.

Co-operation is Indispensable

I feel that we should be proud of the attitude and of the accomplishments of these officials, and, in fact of the conscientious and untiring efforts of the entire school department personnel.

Respectfully submitted,

FRED H. BALDWIN,

Superintendent of Schools.

REPORT OF PRINCIPAL OF WESTPORT HIGH SCHOOL

Mr. Fred H. Baldwin, Superintendent,
Westport Public Schools.

My dear Mr. Baldwin:

In accordance with custom and your request I submit my third annual report as Principal of the Westport High School.

To the best of our combined abilities the objectives set forth in our last annual reports were carried thru to the end of the school year. The work of the various courses was expanded and strengthened by your professional advice and the addition of much needed equipment.

On June 12 our Senior Class, consisting of thirteen members, was graduated. I feel their passing a distinct loss to the school and can only wish that the future Seniors will live up to or exceed the splendid record in cooperation and service set by the Class of 1925. A memorial of that service is to be seen in the granolithic walk leading from the front of the High School building to the border of the school grounds.

The passing of the school year saw numerous changes in the faculty. While I should have been pleased to have had the teachers remain, I cannot but congratulate those of them who are still in the profession on the changes they were able to make.

The new members of the Faculty all give promise of being valuable teachers and I can honestly say that I feel that the school, as a whole, has not suffered as might have been expected. It is true, however, that in-so-far as our financial condition permits, we should take steps to so adjust our salary schedule that we may hope to retain for more than two years those teachers who meet well the needs of our situation.

After the Annual Town Meeting steps were taken to organize the State-Aided Vocational Agricultural Department. Thanks to your efforts the State Department provided us with Mr. Charles Oliver, a graduate of Massachusetts Agricultural College, and on August 15 he arrived to take up the preliminary work of organizing the course. His work in his own fields he has covered in his report to you. Permit me to add that he has been instrumental in carrying on and expanding the boys' activities handled by Mr. Murphy. It is to Mr. Oliver that we owe in a large measure our successful venture in football.

High School opened on September 9 with the largest enrolment in its history. There was no available room for the seventh grade and an additional room in the basement had to be provided to accommodate the classes. In addition to Mr. Oliver, who handles Science as well as his agricultural subjects, we were fortunate in securing Dr. Breault to handle our French Courses. He works with us in the morning making our teaching force eight in number. While this number is none too large to handle the work laid out for them I believe that, comparatively speaking, Westport may be proud of her provision for a faculty of sufficient size to permit of considerable specialization in teaching. This should work to the advantage of our pupils.

Due to the tendency of the pupils to give more thought to the care of the public property, and the untiring efforts of our janitor, Mr. Bowman, I feel that our building and equipment are for the most part in excellent condition. Your readiness to sense our needs and the co-operation of Mr. Lawton in carrying thru our combined projects have also been big factors in improving our plant.

It is evident, however, that we cannot hope to go much further in the expansion of our Curriculum without first increasing the size of our building. Realizing, as I do, our tax burden here in Westport I deem it wise to advise an attempt to house grades 8-12 in the High School Building another year; to make every effort to expand and strengthen our work in the courses already provided; and with the possible exception of the addition of Latin to leave the present Curriculum unchanged.

In response to a questionnaire sent to the parents of our pupils, 18 state that they feel that Latin should be taught for the sake of those who wish to go to college; 12 state that should Latin be taught they desire that their children study the same; 12 state that they desire that their children prepare for college. While it can be seen that only 10% of our pupils are planning to go to college and I have my doubts as to the ability of some of these to qualify, it is nevertheless true that we owe them an opportunity to go if they can and will do the preparatory work.

I recommend for your consideration the possible inclusion of two years of Latin (to be given in the 9th and 10th grades); that the tuition of pupils making high scholastic records as Freshman and Sophomores in college preparatory subjects be paid either in Fall River or New Bedford High Schools so long as they pursue the college course and earn grades warranting certification to colleges of unquestioned rank, and that Juniors and Seniors of marked ability and bent be assisted to attend the Bristol County Agricultural School and the New Bedford Vocational School. Such assistance might well be the equivalent of that granted to those taking the college preparatory course in either city.

Such action would seem to me to serve a double purpose. The pupils would receive bigger and better opportunities than Westport can possibly provide them with for years to come. The High School in turn would be relieved of some of the congestion that we anticipate and would not need to provide a separate college preparatory course. The saving in teachers' salaries I believe would more than pay the tuition involved.

I feel that it would be unfair to close this rather lengthy report without telling you how grateful we are for the library expansion made possible by your special provision in the budget of 1925 and thru the splendid cooperation of our local Public Libraries.

Your expenditure of the money provided for the professional improvement of Westport's teachers seems especially well chosen. As a result it is probable that real courses of study, uniform thruout the system, will be started in all the grades. Here at the High School it means better prepared and more nearly evenly prepared entering classes. It also means better courses of study for those who enter.

It is a pleasure to state that the present faculty has shown a readiness to more than do its share. I believe that during the remaining months of this school year in the class room, thru clubs, and on the play ground, all of our teachers will carry on the splendid work of last fall.

In closing this report allow me to thank the School Committee and you for the continued cooperation and encouragement that you have so freely extended to me.

Respectfully submitted,

MILTON E. EARLE.

REPORT OF COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT

Mr. Fred H. Baldwin, Superintendent,
Westport Public Schools.

My Dear Mr. Baldwin:

It gives me great pleasure to make my annual report concerning the Commercial Department of the Westport High School.

I wish to express my appreciation for the cooperation I have received from the School Committee, Superintendent, and Principal during my teaching experience in Westport. I feel that the townspeople should know that the equipment of the Commercial Department of the Westport High School is of such quality that they should be proud of this department, and should realize that this admirable condition is due to much thought, interest, and foresight on the part of those officials responsible for the choice of material to be installed in this department.

The aims that were set for this department have in the main been accomplished. We, the students and myself, have been glad to help the Superintendent and school officials in any work which they have seen fit to assign to us; and in the future will be glad to do our best to assist in any possible way.

A step forward was taken in the history of this department when the old Woodstock Typewriters were replaced by more modern machines, namely:

- 3 Underwood machines
- 3 Royal machines
- 3 L. C. Smith machines
- 3 Remington machines

Five Woodstock machines are still being used; they are the best of the old equipment.

When purchasing these new typewriters, a system was arranged whereby they will be exchanged at the end of every three years; thus, at a cost of ten dollars a year, the department will be supplied with comparatively new machines at all times. This arrangement is a very commendable one.

In addition to the typewriters, we have a Daus Duplicating machine, a 1924 model mimeograph, a writing plate, a Burroughs adding machine, a Neostyle, and a filing cabinet.

I would suggest that the Burroughs Adding machine be exchanged for a new ten-key machine, either Dalton, Burroughs or Victor make. A mimeoscope would be a very good addition to the equipment. A machine of this type would take care of some music for the glee club, posters, pictures for a school paper, and various other drawings which could be made use of in the schools. A multigraph might also be used to advantage if it were installed in this department.

I understand that an order has been placed for a new Remington billing machine to be added to the equipment. I feel that this machine will be of great value to the Commercial students, who will work in an office. The better acquainted the student is with the apparatus that he is likely to use in office practice, the better able he will be to cope with business situations that may arise in any office in which he may become employed.

The Commercial Department has until recent years been considered an "easy" course in many high schools, large and small. This should not be the case, and it is my hope that the students of Westport, studying this course, are doing so in order to benefit themselves in the business world or to be able to continue their education along this line with more thought behind their choice than that which has been predominant in the past. Commercial I is a general course given to those who think they would like to major in commercial work. At the end of the year the students are chosen from this group who are likely to make the best use of majoring in the commercial field. We try to take into consideration the ability of the individual student and direct his course along the line of whatever is best suited to his abilities and interests.

Commercial II and III are offered to those students majoring in this work. The fundamental principles of business and the application of these principles are given in these courses. Application is made in special fields, such as: the duties of a public and private secretary, and the duties of a filing clerk.

I wish to thank the officials of the schools and the interested townspeople for their splendid cooperation and help during the first half year of my teaching experience in Westport.

Respectfully submitted,

LILLIAN M. PAINE.

REPORT OF HOUSEHOLD ARTS DEPARTMENT

Mr. Fred H. Baldwin, Superintendent,
Westport Public Schools.

My dear Mr. Baldwin:

It is with great pleasure that I submit this report thru you and the school committee to the people of Westport. I believe that thru this attempt to explain our work and our aims, we may gain more friends who will be behind us in our work.

Let us consider for a moment the value of such a department. Has it any real place in the lives of our girls?

Statistics show that eighty-five per cent of all girls marry, and that ninety-five per cent, at some time during their lives, are engaged in the business of keeping house. This should be sufficient evidence to prove the need of training in the art of home-making.

But how much thought are you giving your girl as regards her training for home-making? Is your girl one, who during her four years of high school, spends her time training for business or some other line at which she works but a short time? In other words, will your girl leave high school at the age of seventeen, work at some trade other than home-making for four or five years, and at the age of twenty-one or thereabouts marry and embark on a career of home-making unprepared and afraid? Are you allowing your girl to spend four years to train for four years activity and not for life, or is she looking into the future? I am broad-minded enough to see the value of training in some specific field. I could not now be employed as a teacher if I had not had Normal School training but I am ever thankful for my home-making education.

Of what value is our Household Arts course to the girl who does earn her living? Have you ever stopped to consider the cost of a dress bought ready-made as compared with the cost of materials? Practically every dress that is sold in the stores may be duplicated, if the labor cost and profit are deducted, for one-half or less of the selling price. Let us consider that the average working girl buys ten dresses a year at an average of ten dollars a dress. If she could make her dresses, she could save fifty dollars or more per year. Her other garments may be had at a goodly saving if she can make them. Are not these figures enough to convince you of the value of a dressmaking course?

But many of you say, "Can not our girls learn these things at home?" With all reverence to the home-makers and mothers I ask these questions of you:

1st. How many mothers know food values, chemistry of cooking, and the function of food in the body?

2nd. How many can cut, fit, and make any garment without the use of a pattern or guide and have a result that is free from the home-made look?

3rd. How many home-makers can plan a budget, buy wisely, and live within a given amount?

There are some whose answers would be, "I can," to each question, but they are in the minority.

Home-making is not a hit or miss job. It is as I have stated previously, an "art." Everyone admits that environment is of untold influence over the individual and the sole work of the home-maker is to create a fine, uplifting atmosphere in her home. Only the artist can do this.

During the past year, what have we done?

1st. We have made over one hundred wearable garments in our department.

2nd. We have prepared and served several luncheons and dinners.

3rd. We have served luncheons at the school to the pupils.

4th. We have taken an active interest in the Westport Fair and are the holders of several awards.

5th. This fall we planned, cooked, and served, with the help of the school, a harvest supper to nearly two hundred persons.

Our idea for the future is to plan our work so that it may meet the direct need of the girl and the community.

President Coolidge has said, "Protect our homes. Therein lies the hope of our nation."

May all of the citizens of Westport be with us in our work and in turn help their country and its people.

Respectfully submitted,

MARGARET K. TEMPLETON.

Nothing Succeeds Like Success

REPORT OF AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT

Mr. Fred H. Baldwin, Superintendent,
Westport Public Schools.

My dear Mr. Baldwin:

It is my earnest desire in presenting my first report to explain the work in such a way that it may be readily understood, not only by those closely connected with the schools, but by all other citizens who may be interested to read it.

The department was organized in September 1925, with an enrolment of nine boys. Since the age requirement for admission to this course is fourteen years, the boys are usually in the four upper grades of the school system. At present, the enrolment is: one from the eleventh year, three from the tenth year, and five from the ninth year. The course is open to others not regularly enrolled in the high school, but as yet no one has availed himself of the opportunities offered. The slack period of work during the winter may furnish some chance to get into a unit course.

The agricultural study during the school day occupies the entire last half of the day. Reference work, local farm problems, farm practice take up this time. The other half of the day is devoted to non-agricultural subjects, usually English and one other subject, although a third one may be permitted in exceptional cases. Students doing four years' satisfactory work in this department along with satisfactory work in non-agricultural subjects will receive the regular high school diploma.

Outside of school hours, the boys are required to carry on home projects. This winter they are keeping poultry for their project work. Careful records of his own flock, are kept by each boy. The total number of birds kept by the boys is about three hundred. In connection with this work they have organized into a regular State 4-H Poultry Club along with other pupils in the school.

The department equipment includes two-hundred dollars worth of text and reference books, a filing cabinet with two-hundred and fifty bulletins covering all phases of farm work, a stereoptican lantern, a Babcock milk tester, and fifty dollars worth of tools with which to start a shop. Other equipment will be added as soon as it is found necessary.

I wish to acknowledge the splendid spirit shown by the superintendent, principal, members of the school committee, and members of the advisory committee in helping to establish this department.

Respectfully submitted,

CHARLES F. OLIVER, Jr.

REPORT OF INSTRUCTOR OF AMERICANIZATION

Mr. Fred H. Baldwin, Superintendent,
Westport Public Schools.

My dear Mr. Baldwin:

I hereby submit the first report of the Alien Evening School for Citizenship and Americanization.

January 19, 1926 marked the beginning of Americanization work in the Westport School Department. Consequently, this report can scarcely contain more than the hopes and anticipations for the future work in this department.

The work is now centered at the Westport Factory School where two classes meet Tuesday and Thursday evenings. The total enrolment thus far shows thirty members ranging in ages from twenty-one years to fifty-five years, and representing the French and Portuguese colonies of Westport. Miss Lila Neves, Supervisor of Americanization in New Bedford, sponsored this movement and has very kindly loaned to Westport, from her teaching corps, two experienced Americanization teachers, Mrs. Mary A. Smith and Miss Lillian Ross.

It may be of interest to know that the state and local community share equally in the expense of conducting these so-called Americanization classes. Last year one hundred twenty-six cities and towns in Massachusetts conducted classes for adult aliens in English and Citizenship in cooperation with the Department of Adult Immigrant Education. The state reimbursed local communities last year to the extent of one hundred sixty-six thousand dollars.

This is undoubtedly the foundation of future developments and upon the stability of this foundation depends the value and success of this organization.

Respectfully submitted,

LILLIAN B. ROSS, Instructor.

Report of School Nurse

Mr. Fred H. Baldwin, Superintendent,
Westport Public Schools.

My dear Mr. Baldwin:

May I submit the following report for the school year ending December 31, 1925?

Considerable progress in health work has been made in the Westport Schools during the year 1924-1925. This is, I think, due to the co-operation of the teachers, the support of the Superintendent, the School Committee, and the parents of the pupils.

The following is a list of the work accomplished:

Visits to school rooms	606
Visits to hospital	259
No. pupils inspected	2365
No. Home Nursing classes	25
No. Hygiene Classes	74
Children attending dental clinic	206
Children provided with glasses	33
No. Home Visits	1071
Social Service	300

Health Education, a comparatively new subject in our school curriculum, is receiving more attention each year. The pupils in the Junior High School are being taught hygiene and practical physiology and the Senior girls of the High School are studying home nursing for which the Red Cross offers a certificate at the satisfactory completion of the course. These certificates were given to the class of 1924 of the Westport High School for the first time.

We are now using several different forms of printed material in carrying out our health program. A list of the material follows:

1. State physical record card. One is kept for each child. Clerical work necessary to keep cards up to date is done by the nurse. Records include report of physical examination by school physician, weight record, eye and ear test reports, record of contagious diseases, vaccination, and of any defects treated or corrected.

2. Notice of pediculosis and directions for eradicating this condition. This is sent home in case of pediculosis.

3. Notices of defective vision or hearing. These are sent home in every case of such defects.

4. Snellen's test symbols for testing vision.

5. Notices of defective teeth. These are sent home if the school physician's examination indicates the necessity.

6. Notices of physical defect. These are sent home after school physician's examination to inform parents of any defects found.

7. For dental work—Printed material from dental companies including room charts for the purpose of teaching the care of the teeth.

Note. Tooth brushes of a standard make are sold to the pupils at ten cents each.

Mental health is being taken up in the elementary schools. Last May, and again in October, a mental clinic consisting of a doctor and a psychologist visited Westport and examined ninety-eight pupils. Previous to the examination, I obtained the histories from the parents and teachers in each instance. During the examination, the transportation of the children was done by the school nurse.

In several of the schools where it is possible to do so, a warm lunch including soup and cocoa is being served. The value of these lunches, served at a minimum cost to the pupils, is very great and the teachers are to be thanked for having willingly added this to their regular duties.

As far as possible, each school is visited at least once a week. A school visit usually includes inspection of pupils and school building, health talk, consultation with teacher, and home visits on cases reported by the teacher. The latter are for information and advice in regard to particular cases.

The State Department of Health has begun an intensive ten years' program for underweight children. Our first clinic was held last April in the Grange Hall, Central Village. Children ten per cent or more underweight and children with suspicious cases of tuberculosis, were given a thorough examination by the nurses, doctors and nutrition workers, followed at a later date by X-ray examinations of the chest. Parents were given the privilege of being present at these examinations. Each month these children are weighed by the nurses and a record is kept. In almost every case a marked increase in weight has been evidenced. These children will be re-examined every spring. Everything possible is being done to prevent the dreaded disease of tuberculosis.

As a result of the sale of Tuberculosis Seals by the Public School children we were able to send two of the school children to the Camp for Underweights at Attleboro for the month of August. The visit to the camp was most beneficial and the children were delighted with camp life. We hope to send more children there this summer.

The Westport Factory, Greenwood, North Westport, and Head schools have been provided with large scales for weighing and measuring children. These have been a great help in the medical inspection, and should be of service for the purpose of weighing the pupils from time to time throughout the year.

It is hoped that in due course of time, each school will be provided with a set of scales.

Teeth, posture, and nutrition were the three most noticeable defects found in medical inspection, last September, by Dr. Fredrika Moore of the State Department of Public Health and Dr. John Tupper, our school physician. In order to have these defects remedied, I recommend that a sum of money be set aside for our dental clinic, whereby more children can be treated; that money be provided for a milk fund so that a milk lunch can be served each morning in the schools; and that a physical instructor be hired to teach postural work and corrective exercises, as well as games and athletics.

Each school building has been inspected for source of heating, lighting, contagion, seating, and water supply. Many of the older buildings in town will not pass the State Standards creditably.

We now have what appears to be a good working basis for a health program in our school department. Next year our problem is to work out in more detail, our plan for health education and to try to make parents realize the great need for early correction of physical defects among the school children.

In conclusion, I wish to thank all who have assisted me in my efforts to establish better health for the boys and girls in our schools, especially the Union Hospital in Fall River for the use of its outpatient department for corrective work and the North Westport and Westport Granges for the use of their hall for state clinical work.

Respectfully submitted,

GLADYS M. TATTERSALL, R. N.

If our teachers are to be expected to do their best work in behalf of the children, they must be helped in many ways by the parents to the end that they may be in a position to do so.

The following school laws should be called to the attention of some of our citizens:

GENERAL LAWS RELATING TO EDUCATION OF THE COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS CHAPTER 76.

Section 1. (As amended by Chapter 463, Acts of 1921). Every child between seven and fourteen, every child under sixteen who does not meet the requirements for the completion of the sixth grade of the public schools of the town where he resides, and every child under sixteen except a child holding an employment certificate as provided in chapter one hundred and forty-nine and employed in some regular employment or business for at least six hours per day, and except a child having the written permission of the superintendent of schools of the town where he resides to engage in profitable employment at home, shall, subject to section fifteen, attend a public day school in said town or some other day school approved by the school committee, during the entire time the public schools are in session, unless the child attends school in another town, during the entire time the same is in session, under sections six to twelve, inclusive, or under chapter seventy-one; but such attendance shall not be required of a child whose physical or mental condition is such as to render attendance inexpedient or impracticable, or who is being otherwise instructed in a manner approved in advance by the superintendent or the school committee. The superintendent, or teachers in so far as authorized by him or by the school committee, may excuse cases of necessary absence for other causes not exceeding seven day sessions or fourteen half day sessions in any period of six months.

Report of the School Physician

Mr. Fred H. Baldwin, Superintendent,
Westport Public Schools.

My dear Mr. Baldwin:

I am pleased to submit to you my report as school physician for the year 1925.

The health work in the schools has progressed very satisfactorily during the past twelve months.

We were very fortunate to have the assistance of Dr. Fredrika Moore of the State Department of Public Health in connection with the physical examination of the pupils at the beginning of the school year. She has had great experience in school health work, and rendered a valuable service in every way. Her work is gratefully appreciated.

The work of examining the pupils has been more difficult to do this year and it has taken more of my time. However, the results have been more satisfactory on account of the better methods used. Previous to the examination of the pupils, the school nurse weighed and measured the children, and reported the results on the cards provided for that purpose. The stethoscope was used in the majority of cases after the outer clothing had been removed from the chest. Such procedure often allowed the examiner to detect defects that would have been impossible to discover otherwise. I wish to state, however, in the examination of the high school young ladies, the stethoscope was used over the outside clothing. Following the examination of each pupil, the defects found were recorded by the nurse, and notices were sent to the parent or guardian. In many instances, the nurse was allowed to take the pupils to a clinic for observation and treatment.

Each year shows a marked improvement in the general health of the pupils.

I wish to thank all the officials of the school department for their helpful co-operation.

Respectfully submitted,

JOHN TUPPER,

School Physician.
