Wasps—

WHAT THEY LOOK LIKE . . .

More than 2,500 species of wasps occur in North America. Only about 50 are troublesome to man. They are divided into the following groups:

Hornets and yellow jackets (Vespa, Vespula).
Polistes (no common name).

Mud daubers (Sceliphron, Chalybion, and Trypoxylon).

These wasps build nests in or around homes—beneath eaves, on porches, behind blinds, in trees, in shrubbery, in rock fences, and in the ground. If someone disturbs a nest, he may get stung severely.

A wasp stings by driving its needlelike ovipositor into the flesh and injecting a venomous fluid into the wound. This causes a painful swelling that may last several days. In some cases it may be necessary to see a doctor.

Most wasps kill destructive insects and are therefore beneficial. Polistes catch corn earworms, armyworms, and other pests, and feed them to their young (larvae). Hornets and yellow jackets feed their young on house flies, blow flies, and caterpillars of a variety of moths. But when wasps build nests too close to the house or in shrubbery where children play, they should be destroyed.

HOW THEY DEVELOP

- Hornets
- Yellow Jackets
- Polistes

Hornets, yellow jackets, and Polistes develop in the same way. Three adult forms exist:

1. Fertile females (queens), which lay the eggs.
2. Fertile males, which mate with the queens.
3. Workers, which are females and usually sterile. (Workers may occasionally lay eggs without mating when the queen dies before the end of the season.)

In the fall, queens and males leave the nest and mate. The males die shortly thereafter, but the queens hibernate in a crack in a rock, under loosened bark of a tree, in buildings, or in a hole in the

HORNETS AND YELLOW JACKETS are built more stockily than Polistes and mud daubers. They are black, and have yellow or white markings. The queens measure about  $\frac{3}{4}$  inch long; the males and workers are about  $\frac{1}{2}$  inch long. These wasps are most abundant in the northern temperate region, but they also occur in arctic and tropical regions. They are feared because of their vicious sting.

POLISTES are slender, elongated wasps; they are  $\frac{3}{4}$  inch to 1 inch long. They are black, brown, or red, and have a few yellow markings.

MUD DAUBERS are also slender and  $\frac{3}{4}$  inch to 1 inch long. They are black and yellow (as in the species of Sceliphron), metallic blue (Chalybion), or shiny black (Trypoxylon).

HORNETS' AND YELLOW JACKETS' NESTS are made of a papier-mâché material; the wasps produce it by chewing up rotted wood, dead stems and leaves, or paper and cardboard fragments. The nests are large and globular. They are usually found aboveground—on branches of trees, in shrubbery, on gables. Some species build nests underground.

A POLISTES NEST is also made of a paperlike material that the wasps produce. It is composed of a circular comb of cells that open downward.

MUD DAUBERS' NESTS are made of clay. They are often built around dwellings or outbuildings, both inside and outside. They are sometimes built in stored machinery and equipment.

ground. Polistes queens also hibernate in attics and basements.

The following spring the queen comes out of hibernation and begins flying about until she comes upon a suitable nest site. She then collects wood or vegetable fiber from nearby plants, chews it into a paperlike substance, constructs a comb consisting of a few shallow cells (later enlarged into a nest), and lays an egg in each cell. She does not lay any more eggs until her first brood develops.

The eggs are long, white, and slightly curved. They hatch into larvae in 2 or 3 days.

The newly hatched larvae are helpless, grayish-white grubs that resemble the eggs. They hang suspended in the cells, head downward. The bodies stick to the cells by means of a gluey substance that they secrete.

Larvae depend on adults for their food and care. The queen cares for the larvae of her first brood (all of which are workers), feeding them daily with freshly killed insects. Workers care for larvae of subsequent broods.

The larval stage lasts 12 to 18 days. As larvae grow, they fill out the cells and depend less on the gluey secretion to hold them in place. When full grown, they spin silken cocoon caps over the cells and transform to pupae.

Pupae are motionless within their cocoons. They resemble adults except for a thin, transparent membrane that covers them. At first they are creamy white, but gradually color comes to wings, legs, antennae, and other body parts. At the end of the pupal stage, which lasts about 12 days, the covering membrane breaks, and an adult emerges.

Once her first brood matures, the queen resumes egg laying. A hornet or yellow jacket queen may lay as many as 25,000 eggs; a Polistes, several hundred.

Most wasps are workers. During the life of a colony, a hornets' nest or yellow jackets' nest may contain as many as 15,000 workers to several hundred queens and males. The ratio in a Polistes' nest may be several hundred workers to a couple of dozen queens and males.

As soon as they appear, workers take complete charge of nest life. They enlarge the nest by building additional cells. They care for all immature larvae. They forage for food.

• Mud Daubers

Mud daubers also pass through egg, larval, pupal, and adult stages in their development. Only two adult forms exist—the females and males.

In the spring, young adults come out of nests (where they have overwintered as pupae) and mate. The females look for suitable sites to build new nests in which to deposit their eggs. Each selects a sheltered area, which may be in or near a building, and begins constructing clay cells.

First, the female builds a cell. Next, she catches about 20 immature spiders, paralyzes them with her sting, and stores them in the cell. Then, she lays an egg in the cell and caps the cell with a clay covering. She repeats this pattern until she has built 6 to 20 cells.

When her nest building, provisioning, and egg-laying jobs are done, she leaves the nest and does not return. The larvae hatch from the eggs and begin feeding on the paralyzed spiders. In a few days they spin cocoons and transform to pupae. The pupae transform to adults in about 2 weeks.

There may be 1 to 3 generations of mud daubers each year, depending on the section of the country. Females and males are about equal in number. Upon reaching maturity, they leave their nests and carry on their activities independently.

NESTS

Wasps can be identified by the nests they build. The globular, papier-mâché nests concealing multi-combed structures are peculiar to hornets and yellow jackets; the single-layer, open-faced, umbrella-shaped nests, to Polistes; and the clay-cell nests, to mud daubers. The size of the nests varies with the number of wasps living in them.

Hornets and yellow jackets continually enlarge their nests to accommodate the growing population. They do this by adding new combs or layers of cells beneath the ones already built. They attach each new comb with a sturdy paper stem.

Polistes also enlarge their nests. But instead of building new layers, they add cells to the original comb.

Among mud daubers, nest building is completed when the female has constructed a group of cells, provisioned them with spiders, and deposited eggs. She may then construct a second group of cells in another location.

With the onset of cold weather, the paper nests of the hornets, yellow jackets, and Polistes are abandoned by the insects. The old nests are never again used. They usually disintegrate or are torn to pieces by birds or squirrels. The insects are perpetuated over the winter by the hibernating queens.

The clay-cell nests of the mud daubers do not disintegrate. The insects overwinter in them in the pupal stage.

HOW TO CONTROL WASPS

Wasps can be controlled by applying an insecticidal spray or dust to their nests. Chlordane, dieldrin, and DDT are effective for this purpose. They are available from insecticide dealers as emulsifiable concentrates and wettable powders, from which sprays can be prepared, or as dusts and oil solutions ready for use.

Use a household or garden-type applicator for spraying and a hand duster for dusting.

Dusts are easy to apply to some hornets' and yellow jackets' nests, whether above or under the ground. The extension tube on a garden-type duster can be inserted into the nest opening. Two or three strong puffs of dust will filter through the nest, and will usually kill the colony within 24 hours. A shovelful of moist earth thrown over the entrance of a colony in the ground after treatment will prevent the dying wasps from gaining the surface. You can also treat an underground nest by pouring several ounces of carbon tetrachloride into the opening and then plugging it with absorbent cotton.

Do your control work at night when the wasps are less active and most of them are in their nests. Apply insecticides to the nests, concentrating on the openings. Use (1) a 5- or 6-percent chlordane dust, a 5- or 10-percent DDT dust, or a 1-percent dieldrin dust, or (2) a 2-percent chlordane oil solution, a 5-percent DDT oil solution, or a 0.5-percent dieldrin oil solution, or (3) an emulsion or suspension spray. An emulsion spray can be prepared by mixing a chlordane, DDT, or dieldrin emulsifiable concentrate with water; a suspension spray, by mixing a DDT or a chlordane wettable powder with water. You can prepare effective sprays for controlling wasps by using any one of the formulations given in the following table:

Emulsifiable concentrates	Tablespoonfuls to 1 quart of water
25-percent DDT . . . . .	18
50-percent DDT . . . . .	9
45-percent chlordane . . . . .	4½
15-percent dieldrin . . . . .	2
Wettable powders	Ounces to 1 quart of water
25-percent DDT . . . . .	6
50-percent DDT . . . . .	3
40-percent chlordane . . . . .	1½

It may be possible to dislodge hornets' and yellow jackets' nests and dispose of them in a sack or other suitable container. Before dislodging a nest, plug the opening with absorbent cotton that has been soaked in carbon tetrachloride; the fumes will stun the wasps and you can then move the nest with less danger of being stung. Work quickly. After the nest is dislodged, burn or bury it, or put it into a can containing a few tablespoonfuls of carbon tetrachloride and seal the can tightly.

A 5-percent DDT oil solution, a 2-percent chlordane oil solution, or a 0.5-percent dieldrin oil solution can be used effectively to control wasps in the home. (Note.—Do not use dieldrin or chlordane for overall spraying of the interior of rooms.) Spray screens, window frames, and other places where wasps generally crawl. You can kill individual wasps with a fly swatter or with a direct spray from an aerosol bomb or household sprayer.

PRECAUTIONS

Most insecticides are toxic. . . . Keep insecticides where children and pets cannot reach them. . . . When applying them, do not contaminate food, dishes, or kitchen utensils. . . . Do not store them with food. . . . Do not breathe the spray mist or dust. . . . If insecticide is spilled on the skin, wash it off promptly. . . . Change your clothes if you spill insecticide on them. . . . When you have finished applying an insecticide, clean the sprayer or duster, and wash all exposed surfaces of the body with soap and water. . . . Use carbon tetrachloride outdoors; avoid inhaling its fumes.

CICADA KILLERS

Cicada killers are solitary, ground-nesting wasps that are common in many sections of the country. They are large (about 1½ inches long) and rather stocky with yellow and black markings on their bodies. They frequently build their nests in a sloping bank or terrace around the home. Nest building begins when the fertilized female digs a lengthy burrow, in which she constructs several cells. Before laying her eggs in the cells, she leaves the nest and hunts for a cicada. She paralyzes it with her sting, brings it back to the nest, stores it in a cell, and lays an egg on it. When the egg hatches, the larva feeds on the paralyzed cicada.

In a heavily infested area, you can control cicada killers and other solitary, ground-nesting wasps by applying a 5- or 10-percent DDT dust, a 5- or 6-percent chlordane dust, or a 1-percent dieldrin dust, over the soil surface, concentrating on the openings of the nests. If only a few wasps are present, wait until they have entered their nests; then direct a few puffs of dust into each nest opening—or pour in 1 teaspoonful of carbon tetrachloride—and fill it with dirt.

TREATING WASP STINGS

1. Apply an icepack to the area of the sting.
2. Next, apply a paste made of water and bicarbonate of soda.

If stung many times, or if the reaction is severe, see a doctor following first-aid treatment (1 and 2 above). In rare cases of allergy to insect venom, the sting may cause severe general illness. If illness develops, see a doctor promptly.

Shellfish Constable's Report

To the Board of Selectmen:

Westport, Mass.

Gentlemen:

I hereby submit the annual shellfish report for the fiscal year ending December 31, 1960.

Planted seed quahogs valued at $1,195.00

Filled 200 chicken wire bags with shells and sent them to seeding areas.

200 cubic yards of shells were planted in the Hix Bridge area to catch oyster set.

The scallop harvest was better than the past several years.

An experimental oyster raft was constructed and placed at Hix Bridge to determine the growth and mortality rate of oysters of different areas.

Estimated catch by Commercial Fishermen:

Quahogs—draggers and hand	4,500 Bushels
Scallops	10,000 Bushels
Oysters	1,600 Bushels
Estimated value	$92,150.00

Number of Commercial Shellfish Licenses	34
---	----

Number of Commercial Scallop Licenses	52
---------------------------------------	----

Number of Family Permits	848
--------------------------	-----

For a detailed summary of expenditures, see the Town Accountant's report.

An added duty this year was to patrol the Rivers in cooperation with the State Registry of Motor Boats.

The increasing number of boats creates a major problem in this area. Cooperation from all is needed to make this a safe recreational playground.

Respectfully submitted,

ALBERT A. PALMER,

Shellfish Constable.

Board of Public Welfare

The Board of Public Welfare organized for the year ending December 31, 1960 by appointing Russell Davis as chairman.

PERSONNEL

Director of Public Assistance & Clerk to the Board:
Mrs. Thelma McHugh.

Medical Advisor: Dr. Frank J. Lepreau, Jr.

Appraisor: Frank Slocum.

Social Worker: Miss Edith Hinves.

Social Worker: Mrs. Amelia Sellers, permanent as of 1/21/60.

Jr. Clerk-Stenographer: Mrs. Beverly Hancock.

Jr. Clerk-Stenographer: Mrs. Wilma Ferreira, permanent as of 2/1/60.

Jr. Clerk-Stenographer: Miss Pauline Leite, permanent as of 12/28/60.

MEDICAL CARE PLAN

Changes in the Medical Care Plan during 1960 included more detailed responsibilities being given to local medical advisor and, at the same time, providing for the final approval in more instances being made by the Medical Section of the State Department.

The new drug pricing plan effective August 1, 1960, provides for a checking against the current Druggist Blue Book of every prescription written for a public assistance recipient. The price is determined by formula involving the cost to the druggist, the Fair Trade price, the size of the original container, and a nominal professional fee. Doctors have been urged to write prescriptions for drugs under generic names rather than under a more expensive trade name and in quantities which would correspond to usual packaging procedures.

This has resulted in a lower cost in the average prescription written. It has greatly increased the time of the clerks required to check each prescription before it can be authorized and approved for payment.

OASDI

The Federal Old Age and Survivors Disability Insurance changes in 1960 affected few on our pay-rolls. It did provide for social security payments to persons thereby reducing the need for local assistance payments to meet the total budgets of these few recipients.

CIVIL DEFENSE

There has been little local Civil Defense activity during 1960. A Welfare Service Organization Plan was submitted to the state organization.

Thelma McHugh has taken the Civil Defense Home Preparedness and Shelter Course.

Bureau of Old Age Assistance

The Bureau of Old Age Assistance organized for the year ending December 31, 1960 by appointing Samuel A. Boan, as chairman.

All personnel have served this Bureau as are noted in Public Welfare report.

Old Age Assistance, as we have known it, has been amended by Chapter 781 of the Acts of 1960. Chapter 118A now is entitled "OLD AGE ASSISTANCE AND MEDICAL ASSISTANCE FOR THE AGED."

As of October 1, 1960, recipients of O.A.A. who were in licensed nursing homes, chronic hospitals, and public medical institutions and had no need of other residence have been transferred to Medical Assistance for the Aged.

Many factors in the new program are yet to be determined by rule and regulation of the State Department. In general, the law provides for medical care to a needy applicant age 65 or over who may have more income with which to meet other needs and a greater personal property exemption than under O.A.A. The legal liability of children to contribute toward the cost of medical care is less than for old age assistance. When recovery from recipients or estates is appropriate, such action is taken under the provisions of Section 4A.

Report of the Trustees of the Westport Free Public Library

The Trustees of the Westport Free Public Library organized for the year ending December 31, 1960 as follows:

Chairman	Secretary
Evelyn G. L. Tripp	Rosamond F. Peirce
Librarian	Assistant
Helen J. Tripp	Virginia Shorey
Clerk
Marjorie Shorey

1960 Circulation: Adult Fiction 3,936, non-fiction 2,200; Juvenile Fiction 4,609, non-fiction 884; Magazines 142; Records 209; Total: 11,980.

Equipment Added: 2 Metal sectional book cases — steel shelving; 6-drawer catalog card file case; 1 library table; small card file drawers; telephone service installed; miscellaneous small items.

During 1960 the trustees found the business operations of the library carried out efficiently by its personnel, however, before the year ended we realized fully the inadequacy of our budget.

Although we desired to purchase a much-needed set of Encyclopedias, we found we could not do so. Lack of funds even curtailed routine book purchases long before the year was out, making it necessary to call upon the State Bookmobile each month for a supply of books to provide our borrowers with a change of material.

Each year the library department sharply feels rising costs and increased demands upon our services. Comparable towns spend much more per capita for library service. The Trustees feel we are at a crucial point in Westport's library history.

The library here, as in all communities, is being called upon repeatedly for educational research material. If we are to function successfully for the student and adult alike, we must attempt to meet these demands. We can build only with that which we have at hand.

Our present quarters are proving inadequate. The room does not even allow for a suitable study area. Space does not permit giving a full picture of our needs, but most important is central expansion. We serve only as you help us serve. You are the library.

Former reports informed we are working toward the goal of meeting State minimum standards for public libraries. In 1961 we can receive a grant-in aid from the State of $1,660.25, in addition to our budget, if we work toward meeting these standards within a two-year period. An increased budget will help us meet these standards and in turn secure the grant-in aid.

If you have a student in your home you know he needs the ready availability of source material. Our job is to supplement material offered by the school. We are a team and education is the theme.

This does not imply we have forgotten the library as a means of supplying books and other materials for the recreation and leisure hours. Our aim is an over-all functioning to meet the needs and desire of all age groups, and to fulfill whatever the call.

The library is a vital department in your town. As Trustees, we need your help, suggestion and co-operation on the Town-Meeting floor.

By combined effort in 1961 we aim to expand.

We have received additional gifts this year from the Westport Art Group. Their choice has added distinction to our shelves, and we are appreciative of their kindness. Their members have continued to exhibit their various works upon the art board in the library.

Individuals also, have been generous, and we wish to thank all who have thought of the library.

Respectfully submitted,

EVELYN G. L. TRIPP,

Chairman

Report of the Planning Board

Mr. Carlton A. Lees, Chairman
Board of Selectmen
Westport, Massachusetts

Dear Sirs:

Herewith is the report of the Planning Board's major activities for the year 1960.

The Planning Board was organized as follows:

Thomas R. Burrell III, Chairman	Term expires 1961
Arthur V. Tripp	Term expires 1962
James Pilkington, Secretary	Term expires 1963
William A. Holden	Term expires 1964
Frank J. Cassidy	Term expires 1965

Members of the Town Planning Board attended a total of fifty-three bi-monthly regular and special meetings and hearings in the conduct of its responsible duties. During the course of the year, members of the Board met with eight different Planning Boards discussing planning problems and their solutions. Members attended conferences of the Massachusetts Federation of Planning Boards held in Taunton and Boston. These conferences are of enormous help in acquainting the members with the complex field of town planning.

A total of 358½ hours were spent by the Board members in the pursuit of Town interests.

During the year 1960, a total of thirty-four subdivision plans were studied by the Planning Board. This total breaks down in various categories as follows: Preliminary Plans--9; Definitive Plans--6; Approval not required but needing the Planning Board Stamp--19; Sketches prior to preliminary plan--2. Of this total, eight were rejected as not meeting the requirements of the state law and Westport Town regulations; and two were withdrawn. Three plans were referred to the Town Board of Appeals; one plan disapproved; two plans are at present still pending.

The Planning Board desires to advise the townspeople to submit a preliminary plan or a rough sketch prior to having final plans drawn by a registered civil engineer. This method of presentation will save the prospective sub-divider much time and money.

Of the many subjects considered by the Planning Board during the year effecting the future growth of the Town, water continues to be the most important. During the period covered by this report, discussions and conferences were attended by the members of the Town Planning Board with Massachusetts state officials, Southeastern Massachusetts Regional Planning District, Massachusetts Federation of Planning Boards, Somerset Planning Board, Fall River and others. The big water question Westport faces is: Will our community face the prospect of stiffer competition for available water supplies? It now appears that Westport has few water rights in its own territory and must seek means as it grows to secure water. As the Town grows, fire protection needs grow, water table levels drop. The national water needs will double before 1980. A water project takes years for completion. It is never too soon to decide firmly on guidelines to assure that needed development is carefully planned and provided. Many communities now face recurrent water shortages and some of these communities are our bordering neighbors. Lack of water will hamper growth of the Town. The Southeastern Massachusetts Regional Planning District favors the establishment of a state controlled water district as the most equitable way of providing water for the small community. The Westport Planning Board subscribes to this principle.

Further, under the date of October 10, 1960, the Planning Board forwarded a letter stating that the Board, after due deliberation and study of the water needs of the Town of Westport, recommended that the Board of Selectmen take action to have the Town of Westport resolve through an article in the warrant of the Town Meeting: Be it resolved that the Town of Westport is in favor of the Commonwealth of the State of Massachusetts establishing a Southeastern Massachusetts Water District or Region.

The establishment of a Southeastern Massachusetts Water Region appears to be the only economical solution to this perplexing problem.

The Planning Board has continued its project of elimination of dead end streets. The area chosen this year was off Sanford Road. The street chosen "Loan Street" has been indicated on Assessors' Platts from original drawings dated 1917. The need for the connecting of Sunset Avenue, Velvet Avenue, Milk Avenue, Banner Avenue, Register Avenue, Conscript Avenue, Conserve Avenue, Summer Avenue and Franklin Avenue by a cross street has held back the growth of this large tract and in the interim period has cost the Town taxpayers much due to lost time in snow removal. Safety of school bus discharge is another factor considered here, coupled with the potential area growth.

The Westport Point section of Town was under discussion many times this past year. The discussions considered the future effect to the area if the old wood bridge was removed. Considering the old Point Bridge removal, the members of the Planning Board decided to visit and consult with the New England office of the U. S. Army Engineers located in Waltham, Massachusetts. Accordingly, three members of the Planning Board spent a day discussing the old Westport Point Bridge and other problems with engineers responsible for this area.

During our visit, the U. S. Army Engineers revealed to the Planning Board members that House Document 692, 75th Congress, 3rd Session, enacted June 20, 1938, provided authority to the U. S. Army Engineers to design and contract for an outer and inner harbor entrance to Westport Harbor. Funds for this project were not provided for at this time, as the act read that the costs were to be shared on a federal and local basis. No action had been taken on this project up to the time of the Planning Board visit to the U. S. Army Engineers Office. We were advised by the engineer in charge of the department to which this project was assigned, that the U. S. Army Engineers were preparing a request to the Chief Engineer, U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, to request Congress to enact a measure to eliminate this project listed in House Document 692, 75th Congress, as no action had been taken on it by the Town of Westport these past twenty-two years.

Accordingly, on October 10, 1960, a letter was transmitted to the Board of Selectmen pointing out the salient factors relative to this congressional act and suggested that the Board of Selectmen take any and all necessary action of a bi-partisan nature with the elected U. S. Senators and House of Representative members to have the verbage of the original act changed so that the wording "local funds" would be completely eliminated. Members of the Planning Board felt that the philosophy of Congress and the citizens of these United States has considerably changed during these past twenty-two years. This recommendation was made by the Planning Board members because they firmly believe that if the let is cut through East Beach and an outer and inner channel at Westport Harbor is a reality, there will not be a finer enclosed harbor (with some dredging and other improvements) for a distance of 100 miles of coast line. Such improvements will mean a tremendous growth in boating that it should augment Westport as truly a summer resort. Further, this type harbor as cited above would be in line for federal funds for improvement after it was designated as a harbor of refuge.

The Planning Board sent a letter dated October 10, 1960, stating that the Board at regular meeting of its members held October 7, 1960, voted to recommend to the Board of Selectmen to initiate the necessary action to accomplish the plans outlined with Mr. Jack Ricciardi, Commissioner of State Department of Public Works and Mr. Rudolph Bessette, Associate Commissioner, to remove the portion of the old bridge including the draw north to the north shore. It was recalled that Mr. Ricciardi offered to furnish funds, approximately $15,000.00, to convert the section left intact to a mariner.

In this correspondence, the Planning Board made the recommendation that the Board of Selectmen initiate action with the State Department of Public Works, Division of Beaches to secure the use, lease or assignment of the area between the old and the new bridge on the south shore for development into parking area for autos and trailers using the proposed mariner. Further, to develop the water edge with several launching ramps and to seek control of the old Cranberry House for use by the Town Shellfish Warden and as Westport Police Marine Headquarters. It is the opinion of the Planning Board that as the harbor facilities are developed, more policing will be necessary to reduce to a minimum health and safety hazards.

Soil Conservation has been and will continue to be a problem for the Planning Board and persons interested in developing their land into a residential, commercial, or industrial subdivision. Such persons of a necessity assume large expenditures for the hire of registered civil engineers to survey the property and to draw in detail the layout of the subdivision. Furnishing of Profile Engineering plans when deemed necessary due to terrain features involved is an expensive item. The furnishing of Performance Bond in the development of the road net is another very expensive item. These expenses the developer will assume and hope his plans are attractive enough for him to sell the lots, and enjoy a profit for all his efforts.

However, it does appear rather ridiculous for another town government agency to authorize some person owning property to dig a hole in the ground and remove the top and sub soil, thus causing an eye sore to be established across the road from or adjoining the property of the person who has spent considerable funds to develop under present town rules and regulations.

So, for this reason, the Planning Board requested the Board of Selectmen consideration as to including representation of the Planning Board as a voting member of the soil conservation committee.

The Planning Board continues to receive invaluable assistance through its membership in the Southeastern Massachusetts Regional Planning District. During the year 1960, the Regional Planning District caused several professional studies to be made.

These research studies were made by a group of professional planners and economists. The costs of these studies were born by the funds of Planning District matched by federal funds. Thus, considerable funds are saved through the Town's membership in this organization. It is desired to point out, however, that these studies are of a general nature covering the entire area comprising the Southeastern Massachusetts Regional Planning District. No specific studies effecting any individual Town member is possible under the present rules of this worthwhile organization. Each town must initiate its own studies, at its own expense matched by federal funds on a 50/50 basis. However, the waiting time of application and approval of federal funds has greatly increased. State Planning Division advises us that the back-log of application for approval has increased to the point of approximately three years.

Westport is in need of several professional studies to effect orderly growth development, and to save the taxpayer considerable funds and avoid costly errors.

During the year, the Southeastern Massachusetts Regional Planning District furnished the following research study reports:

1. Population trends.
2. The regional economy.
3. Natural resources.
4. Area transportation.
5. Urban resources.
6. Regional recreation facilities, existing and proposed.
7. Regional expressways, existing and proposed.

Recently, the Southeastern Massachusetts Regional Planning District has established an office in the city of Taunton with full-time professional people manning this office for the convenience of the member town planning boards. This office should prove to be a big help to the Westport Planning Board.

A future project of the Southeastern Massachusetts Regional Planning District is a professional research study of land use in the area. Upon the completion of this area study, Westport will be furnished a map of the Town based on this study research indicating the best land use. This land use map is a first needed step to applied zoning of the Town. Mr. Arthur V. Tripp is the designated delegate to the Southeastern Massachusetts Regional Planning District.

The Planning Board wishes to take this medium to thank the members of the Board of Selectmen for their fine cooperation during the past year.

Respectfully submitted,

For the

WESTPORT PLANNING BOARD

Report of the Zoning Board

Mr. Carlton A. Lees, Chairman
Board of Selectmen
Westport, Massachusetts

Dear Sir:

Herewith is the report of the Zoning Board for the year 1960.

The Zoning Board was organized as follows:

Thomas R. Burrell III, Chairman	Term expires 1961
Arthur V. Tripp	Term expires 1962
James Pilkington, Secretary	Term expires 1963
William A. Holden	Term expires 1964
Frank J. Cassidy	Term expires 1965

The members of the Zoning Board were under some apprehension as to their responsibility to the Town with respect to zoning as it affects the Town of Westport. Since zoning and planning are allied and closely related, the Planning Board requested a meeting with the Board of Selectmen to define more clearly the composition of the Zoning Board, since there had not been any formal appointment or election of person to comprise the Zoning Board. This meeting brought to light the need for a strong, well-versed Appeals Board to conform to the state laws.

At this meeting, the Board of Selectmen advised the Planning Board that they, as a group, were appointed to act as the Zoning Board to conform to all state laws in the performance of its duties. The members of the Zoning Board request that the Board of Selectmen confirm the appointment of the Planning Board as the Zoning Board with the term of office to correspond with the term of office of the members of the Planning Board.

No action was instituted during the past year by the members of the Zoning Board, primarily because of the apprehension indicated above and partly because of the reluctance of townspeople to accept or to seek zoning in our Town until it is quite evident that they are in danger of being hurt because the area of their residence is unzoned. Then there is quite a bit of consternation among those who realize that the value of their property is in jeopardy. Then a hurried effort, often uncoordinated, is taken without success.

To zone an area, much study must be given and this takes time. The application of the principle of what the land is best adaptable to is the basis of the study. Unzoned areas are at the mercy of persons who have ideas not identical with the thoughts and ideas of persons who choose an area to build their homes in. Zoning does give protection to the home owner without much effort on his part. Intelligent home buyers today ask what is the zoning of the area when looking at prospective homes.

Much must be done in the way of zoning more areas of the Town and of improving the existing regulations of the areas in Town presently zoned. The construction of two new highways in Town spell out the need for zoning quite clearly. Zoning should be thought of as a protection for the property owner, not as a deprivation of freedom of action of the land owner.

Respectfully submitted,

For the

Fourth term	9	Mon., April 24, 1961	June 21 (noon)	42
			(Estimated)
	38			184

There will be no school on the following days which occur during the school year 1960-1961:

Wednesday, October 12—Columbus Day

Friday, October 28—Bristol County Teachers' Convention.

Friday, November 11—Veterans' Day.

Thursday and Friday, November 24 and 25—
Thanksgiving Recess; School closes Wednesday at noon.

Christmas Vacation, December 23 (noon) to January 3, 1961.

Mid-Winter Vacation, February 17 to February
27, 1961.

Good Friday, March 31, 1961

Spring Vacation, April 14 to April 24, 1961

Tuesday, May 30—Memorial Day

School Closes, June 21—probably.

It is the policy of the school department to issue no-school bulletins or announcements through Stations WSAR—Fall River, WNBH and WBSM—New Bedford, WPRO—Providence, whenever driving conditions are, or promise to be, dangerous. On doubtful mornings, the family radio should be tuned in from 6:30 A.M. to 7:30 A.M. for no-school decisions.

Weather conditions in a given area at a given time are still largely unpredictable. Therefore, there will be days when, with the best of intention, buses will be sent when they should not, and not sent when they should be.

Parents will have to use their own judgment in determining whether their children should attend school under adverse weather conditions. When attendance is poor because of weather conditions, no new work will be presented by the teachers.

Report of Superintendent of Schools

To the School Committee and Citizens of Westport:

I submit herein my second annual report as your superintendent of schools, it being the seventy-second such report submitted in the history of this superintendency. I am also including the reports of the school principals and supervisors as a part of my report to you.

We have made progress during the past year in several fields. In the high school area we have strengthened the fields of mathematics, science, English and guidance along the lines suggested by Dr. James B. Conant in his study of the American Comprehensive High School.

In the teacher area, I am pleased to report that we had very few teacher losses, and that our few new faculty members are doing well in their respective positions. Our teachers, in general, are showing a conscientious interest in improving their offerings to Westport youth, and in seeing that our school system meets the challenge of our time. We are, indeed, very fortunate in the personality and talent of the great majority of our teachers.

The school cafeteria program is providing tasty, well-balanced meals which are patronized by an unusually high percentage of our student body. Our financial operation is running substantially in the black.

Relationships among teachers and principals and administrative officers in the system are excellent; the general morale is high, all of which is auspicious for a year of genuine accomplishment.

We find our school custodians willing, helpful and cooperative, with a fine combination of skills that are of benefit to the maintenance of Westport's considerable school plant. They do many things that most systems would have to call in outside craftsmen to do. However, we are definitely behind in the field of outside painting and sash work in five out of seven school buildings. If we keep the North Westport School, the figure would be six out of seven buildings that need outside sash and trim jobs.

The best answer to this need would seem to be to hire an additional man and, beginning next spring, put a painting team of two men on this work until late next fall. This would be much cheaper than putting the needed work out to bid. One or the other will have to be done if the buildings are going to be properly cared for in the foreseeable future. School custodians are called upon to do many things that are not strictly custodial but all of which are important to the smooth functioning of a modern school system. This is particularly true in a modern high school especially when the school auditorium and gymnasium occupy the same space.

I have put a system of time sheets into operation that should give us a clear picture of the amount of time that the custodians put into janitorial work, maintenance work, etc. so that a proper amount can be charged to buildings maintenance, rather than have it all charged to custodial work.

Mr. Howard Church, Maintenance Supervisor and Chief Custodian, resigned in June because of ill-health, thus creating adjustment problems in this department. Mr. Church had faithfully served the school system for several years. His leaving was a genuine loss. Mr. John Machado has been ably serving in this field since last June.

Material Acquisitions and Improvements

We have been able to equip the guidance office at the High School, add two sewing machines to the Household Arts Department, secure needed storage cabinets in various schools, provide needed desk and filing facilities in the superintendent's office, install an inter-communication system in the Earle School, provide a parking area and black-top drives at the same school, secure several needed record players for the Macomber and Earle Schools. Shop and audio-visual equipment, as well as physical education equipment, have been obtained for the high school. A needed school size Schoninger piano was obtained for the Junior High School section of the High School. The Head School was resingled, new pupil desks were obtained for Mr. Hart's room, and new teacher desks were purchased for the three rooms at the Head School. Needed combination storm windows were installed at the Greenwood Park School. Considerable progress has been made in improving the volume of water at the Earle School. New shades have been put up in two classrooms, two drinking fountains have been installed, as well as considerable new shelving.

Salary Schedule

The School Committee has adopted a salary schedule with maximums of $5800 for the B.S. Degree, and $6050 for the Master's Degree, with teachers being required to take two semester hours of study every three years in order to advance on the salary schedule. Many teachers take more than this requirement, particularly if they are working for their Master's Degree. The Committee has also set the minimum salary at $4200.

These new maximums are necessary in order to keep Westport competitive in the teacher market in this area of the State. Teachers' Salary Schedules are a constantly changing picture because of the great demand for teachers all over the Commonwealth and all over the country, and because of the country's suddenly increased consciousness of the importance of education from both a personal, economic viewpoint, and from the standpoint of national prestige and survival.

Changing State minimum salaries set by the General Court has also contributed to this state of rapidly changing salary schedules.

It now seems quite likely that the National Congress, in its next session, will come to the aid of towns and cities in both the field of school building construction and that of Teachers' Salaries. Thinking has drastically changed in regard to Federal Aid to education, now that it is definitely seen that education has become vital to national defense. In reality, education has always been a part of our National Defense, in that it has always been a main source of the perpetuation of our democratic free institutions, and our American way of life. Our taxes on real estate can no longer support the increasing needs and costs of mid-twentieth century education any more than such a tax base could support in entirety the Armed Services.

High School Accreditation

We are going through the preliminary steps that will eventually lead to a three day visitation and study by a sixteen member committee of secondary school people, for the purpose of evaluating our high school in accordance with the specifications of the New England Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. Several of our faculty members have served on evaluation committees for other high schools in the Commonwealth. We have much work to do before we receive the evaluation committee, but we are making progress, so that we should soon be able to set a date for the visitation. I expect that the visit will be made during the coming school year. I have included $800 in our 1961 budget to take care of the expense involved. We must become accredited before 1965 under State Department Regulations.

Spelling

Our elementary teachers have attended a lecture and teaching demonstration in the field of spelling. This was conducted by an educational consultant of the Charles E. Merrill Company. We are trying to get our pupils to become conscious of the need of correct spelling in all written work—not simply in a spelling lesson itself.

Mental and Emotional Health

All teachers in the school system have attended a series of four lectures given by Dr. Wilson Hughes, our school physician. The lectures concerned child development in the home and in the school, and the related fields of mental and emotional health of children. Personality symptoms of potential trouble were reviewed, together with what could be done to correct certain conditions. These lectures also provided the teachers with an opportunity to meet and know the school physician.

Sabbatical Leave

The Westport School Committee, during the past year, adopted a "leave of absence" and a "sabbatical leave" policy that is progressive and fair to both the children and teachers of Westport. Area towns have evinced considerable interest in it. At the moment, we are considerably ahead of our area in this field, but probably won't be for long, as the trend is definitely toward a liberal sabbatical leave policy for purposes of advanced teacher training.

Reading

The School Committee voted to send Mrs. Edith Clark to New Hampshire this past summer to take a special course put on by the Science Research Associates in the field of reading. This course was primarily designed to identify and to speed up the reading rate of our slow readers at the high school level. In connection with this program, we have purchased reading accelerator machines for this individual pupil speed-up work. We are beginning to see improvement in this field of endeavor.

We have also taken the first step toward beginning a reading-readiness program for our pre-school children. This will be aimed at reducing reading failures in the first and second grades.

Driver Training

We have been given a brand new 1961 Ford car by the Ford Motor Sales Company of New Bedford, for our high school driver training program. We are very fortunate in having secured this car without cost through Mr. Walter Silveira of Ford Motor Sales. It seems likely that we will receive a new car each year for this program. If so, we will no longer have to improvise with used cars, and can make definite plans in advance which will strengthen our driver-training program.

Needs

In connection with the school physical plant we need to reshingle the roof of the Point School. The sash and trim of all school buildings in town need painting with the exception of the Greenwood Park School and possibly the Earle School. If the town grows more classroom space at the High School will become mandatory. As it is, we are getting by, but through lack of space are lacking the flexibility that we need in scheduling and programing.

The Earle School could use more playground space to advantage, as well as more cafeteria space.

A needed additional school bus has been provided for in the 1961 school budget by the school committee. This will take care of the crowded condition in several of our buses.

The looks of the Greenwood Park School would be improved by the development of a small lawn in front with a curbstone around it.

We still very much need an additional teacher in the art-music field, the one whom I had secured having been diverted to Mrs. Leuvelink's position when she was granted a leave of absence.

We need more physical education in grades five and six in the Macomber and Earle Schools. At this time, we do not have the personnel for it.

It now appears that the next school building program that Westport will need will be in the field of a Junior High School to house grades seven and eight, and thus relieve pressure at the high school. With Federal Aid for school buildings probably coming, and with present State-Aid, a new building should not prove to be too great a financial hardship for our taxpayers.

Course of Study

The elementary teachers and principals have begun work on developing and putting into written form, a course of study for each subject matter field in each grade. At the moment they are working on the "language arts".

The purpose of this is to set up definite written objectives and subject matter coverage in each grade, so that everyone will cover the same material. This will promote uniformity in subject matter taught. Each teacher will know what she is expected to cover in her grade. She will also know what has been taught in the preceding grades. We are not attempting to secure uniformity in teaching methods and devices. Some teachers are adept in one method. Others feel more competent in using another approach. We encourage experimentation in this field. This tends to develop enthusiasm on the part of both teacher and pupil. Having a definite course of study outline will also be of help to both new and substitute teachers in the system. It will take at least two years to complete this work, depending upon the frequency of after school meetings of the various committees.

A course of study is never a final word or perfect accomplishment. It can never stay static in a changing world.

In Conclusion

During the past year we have made definite gains in the fields of teachers' salaries, sabbatical leave policy, classroom furnishings and equipment, high school curriculum, driver-training program, physical conditions in some buildings, as well as a general understanding among school personnel as to each others needs and fields of action.

During the coming year we expect to show further gains in the fields of high school accreditation, elementary course of study, and continued improvement of our physical plant maintenance.

Our forefathers considered education a serious business and a necessary one. In recent years, some people lost this concept to the extent of trying to make education painless. In the face of great national danger, we are returning to a more traditional concept.

With a philosophy we can defend, with teachers of quality, with the sympathetic understanding of our citizenry, and with ample funds, we can provide an education according to the abilities and needs of our children and our nation.

Someone has said that the report cards of the '60's in America's schools will determine the fate of the America of the future, and possibly that of our world. If this is true, education is definitely a most serious business, and one with which every citizen must concern himself.

Respectfully submitted,

LAURENCE A. FOGG,

Superintendent of Schools

REPORT OF HIGH SCHOOL PRINCIPAL

Mr. Laurence A. Fogg
Superintendent of Schools
Westport, Massachusetts

Dear Mr. Fogg:

As principal of the Westport High School, I hereby submit my annual report.

Changes in Personnel

Mrs. Leuvelink was granted a leave of absence to teach for the Armed Forces in Germany, and Mr. McGarr was given a sabbatical leave to study at Cornell. Mr. Karam accepted a position in the Fall River school system to coach basketball at Durfee High School. Mrs. Manning and Mr. Erickson, who were half time teachers during the absence of Mr. Souza, are no longer needed in the system. Mr. Souza attended a year at Harvard University and a summer at the University of California at Los Angeles.

The following teachers were appointed: Miss Barbara Bures, to teach advanced mathematics; Mr. Hilyard, to teach English; Mr. Menard, to teach social studies and coach basketball; Mrs. Eckhardt, to replace Mrs. Leuvelink during her absence; Mr. Kraner, to replace Mr. McGarr; Mrs. Liebmann, as guidance counselor.

All of our teachers seem to be extremely interested in their work and have given me excellent co-operation.

Changes in Curriculum

This year we have offered Latin for both the 8-A and 8-1 groups and French for the 7-A and 7-1 classes. Also, this is the first year we have scheduled a third year of French. We have found that our girls taking the commercial course needed literature if they attended institutions of higher learning. With this in mind, we are offering a half year of Business English and a half year of Business Law, plus five periods of English, all of which provides a better background in the field of literature.

We believe that more trigonometry and less solid geometry should be offered in the senior year. After consulting several colleges, their recommendations indicated this to be true. Therefore, we have started with our trigonometry and plan to devote more time to it than in previous years.

Paul Larrivee was appointed chairman of the English Department and I have asked him to submit a report on progress to date.

PROGRESS REPORT OF THE ENGLISH DEPARTMENT

Because it is rather early in the year to evaluate the results of new policy, instead I shall report in this paper what changes have been made, with a view to giving a more substantial evaluation at a later date. Revision or modification of policy has affected such areas as developmental reading, composition, term paper assignments, book reporting, student reassignment, orientation of and professional help for teachers, dramatics club, and teacher supervision.

READING

The junior high school reading teacher began instruction earlier in the year with a group of six college preparatory seniors, arbitrarily selected. Three students at a time were taken for three consecutive sessions, alternating with the other group for three sessions. Each student, therefore, received (excluding absences) nine reading sessions over a period of four weeks, using the reading accelerators and the S.R.A. Laboratory materials. Currently, the reading instructor is working with a group of nine seniors.

Admittedly, such a program merely scratches the surface of the problem. Thus I believe that any objective test results would not be significant at this point. Part of the success of such a program depends on the student's making continued use of principles acquired in these sessions. Such dependence is indeed hopeful and not measurable.

Related to the development of reading speed and comprehension is the matter of vocabulary building. Rather than rely on vocabulary growth as a concomitant of reading and other activities, we are taking a more direct approach. Each of the college preparatory seniors, as well as others, has a vocabulary workbook. With these workbooks, we are directing lessons whose specific aim is vocabulary growth. An ultimate objective of vocabulary growth is an increase in reading speed and an improvement in comprehension, as well as the sharpening of other skills.

None of these attempts, however, will prove entirely satisfactory in improving materially the reading level of our students. At a later date, I wish to make some specific recommendations with regard to reading.

COMPOSITION

There has been an attempt to exact bi-weekly compositions from the majority of students—all of those enrolled in the college preparatory course and those in other courses in many cases. This schedule has not always been closely adhered to because of conflicts with other long assignments and, in other instances, because of the teachers' own work loads.

After these compositions are corrected and scored, the teachers discuss them with their classes, indicating common errors. Then these compositions are passed on to me for filing. Such a practice enables me to determine the school level of writing in all aspects. Furthermore, individual student progress can be followed since these compositions are filed alphabetically.

In my examination of these compositions, I have found generally that although teachers have assiduously sought to correct errors in usage, punctuation, and spelling, the larger problem of composition principles—organization—usually went unnoticed. With this oversight in view, I assembled material for teachers to use with their classes, thus keeping these principles in mind for both students and teachers. Happily, I report that a concerted effort is being undertaken to improve compositions in terms of unity, coherence, and emphasis. Too often these principles of rhetoric are either considered too elusive for student application or are taken for granted, but I feel the matter is important enough to mention here.

Previously I mentioned that teachers discussed common errors after evaluating a composition assignment for a class. Such an approach is unsatisfactory since it disregards individual difficulties. An attempt is being made to hold student-teacher conferences concerning composition, but these conferences have not been extensive enough. Again, I should like to make recommendations, this time with regard to such conferences.

Finally, in reporting on composition, I should point out that assignments of long term papers (for grades 10-12) have been scheduled throughout the academic year. As much as possible, care has been taken to avoid conflicts with dates when other time-taking reports are due. It is at just such times, for instance, when a term paper in English and another subject come due within a week or so of each other, that the schedule of bi-weekly compositions is relaxed.

Among these longer reports we are introducing, as it was done last year, the formal research paper to juniors, who are to do research on a topic in American history for their first attempt. These research papers are to be evaluated (in ten criteria of research) by the English teachers, as well as by the history teacher for historical content.

BOOK REPORTING

Last June, students were given a book list from which to make selections for book reports. Since a rigid compliance to a book list shows disregard for individual student needs, interests, and abilities, students are allowed to report on books not included on this list if they obtain permission from their teachers. This permission is granted on the basis of the particular book and the individual student involved. In effect, capable students are encouraged to read books that are challenging and valuable to them; low-ability students are able to read books that are not too difficult and, at the same time, interesting to them.

These book reports are filed alphabetically by grade, to be kept as long as these students remain in school. This practice tends to discourage a student from reporting on the same few books each year, and also will enable me to study the reading interests of the students during their four years.

STUDENT RE-ASSIGNMENT

As I have suggested before, students are re-assigned during the year to classes as their particular needs dictate. There is no need to consider them as "belonging" in a certain group if scheduling permits changes. To give a specific case in point, I removed six seniors from my own senior college preparatory group and formed another group of advanced students who can more quickly grasp difficult material. While some of these are working on group assignments, I can still give individual help—help by which the advanced student can also profit.

ORIENTATION AND PROFESSIONAL HELP

Because this year the English department added a first-year teacher, I found it profitable to work closely with him to orient him to school and departmental policy. This help included class supervision early in the year in order to indicate changes or modification of classroom procedure as soon as possible.

As further effort in assisting teachers, I have been suggesting certain books and periodicals for the English staff to read. Furthermore, we have begun exchanging professional literature. I consider this a very important move: such professional organizations as the American Studies Association, College English Association, Modern Language Association, and National Council of Teachers of English seem to agree that our nation's low achievement in English can be attributed in part to the poor preparation of English teachers. Many teachers, for example, are expected to teach students to write while their own experience with writing involves only a course in Freshman Composition. Until English teachers are offered the same opportunities as science and mathematics teachers for taking courses, they can improve their teaching by constant reading—something with which they should occupy themselves regardless of the availability of courses.

DRAMATICS CLUB

All interested students were invited to join the dramatics club earlier this year. Some thirty students responded. They will study different forms of drama and will be given the opportunity to express themselves creatively in short dramatic pieces. Such a co-curricular activity proposes to develop poise, oral expression, and an interest in drama—to mention a few objectives.

SUPERVISION

Having occupied myself with preparing material and outlining policy for teachers, I have not yet done any extensive supervision. It has been confined for the most part to observing the first- and second-year teachers. After these observation periods, I have conferred with the individual teachers to point out my findings and changes for improvement.

I hope to make a more detailed report on supervision in the future. If it is necessary or desirable, this report can include the notations made during observation.

Educational Gains

I believe that we have strengthened our English department by naming a chairman, and I am confident that Mr. Larrivee will be of tremendous help in this field.

Mr. Souza, who has had the advantage of recent study, has given our science department a more modern approach in this field.

Our commercial department functions extremely well, which reflects the capabilities of Mrs. Francis and Mrs. Marujo.

The graduates who continue their study of French at college reported that the work at Westport High School enabled them to continue the language without difficulty.

More girls elected Household Arts I this year than in previous years, and I am sure will profit by their work with Miss Cahoon and Mrs. Jeffrey.

The addition of another guidance counselor enables this department to function more effectively, particularly with our seventh and eighth grade students. It is our hope that study habits in these grades can be improved by Mrs. Liebmann working more closely with these groups. It is important that study habits are developed during this particular stage.

Mrs. Kelliher continues her excellent work with her special education group and deserves a great deal of credit in bringing these people along to the extent of their ability.

Our vocal and instrumental music program continues to progress under the able leadership of Mrs. Griffin and Mr. Braga.

This year we again have three divisions of the seventh grade assigned to the Head School. Mr. Hart and his faculty have done excellent work with these people and have shown great patience and understanding of this age group.

The athletic teams have met considerable success, particularly our girls' hockey and boys' soccer squads. Our girls were league champions, and our boys finished second in the newly formed Bi-state Soccer League. The teams competed against schools with an enrollment of several times that of Westport, which makes our accomplishments even more commendable. Miss Andrade, Mr. Souza and Mr. Bibeau and their assistants are to be congratulated.

Mrs. Padelford's successful management of our cafeteria continues, and excellent meals are prepared and served by her competent staff.

Miss Paoli, who has complete responsibility for directing and supervising the seventh and eighth grades, is doing remarkably well under difficult circumstances. The fact that we must schedule high school classes in the junior high section adds to the problem. Until such time as this building is occupied by grades nine through twelve and a separate junior high school exists, no other arrangement is possible.

Additional Equipment

Under the National Defense Act, Title 3, several hundred dollars worth of scientific equipment has been added, particularly in the field of chemistry and physics. Guidance equipment was added under Title 5 of the same act.

In addition, the following equipment has been purchased and used to good advantage:

A new duplicator in the main office.

A demonstration stand, a record player to be used in shorthand dictation, and a Monroe adding and listing machine.

A new piano for the music department.

A new trampoline for the physical education department.

A new desk for Miss Paoli.

A new Vu-Graph over head projector.

A speedy forge for the Industrial Arts and Agriculture Department.

At the Head School, thirty new modern and movable desks were added, as well as a new A. B. Dick Duplicator and an automatic record player for the vocal music groups.

This year work got under way toward implementing the self-evaluation of the high school. Each member of the faculty is working on one or more committees in conjunction with this project. This is in preparation for a visiting committee we hope to have during the school year 1961-62. Mr. Martineau, who has been assigned the task of organizing these committees, has done a tremendous amount of work in the launching of this project.

I am certain that with the cooperation of all the teachers and the free exchange of ideas and suggestions that the school will profit from this endeavor.

Looking Ahead

It would appear that next year the entire seventh grade could be assigned to the Head School. This would give added classroom facilities to grades eight through twelve, room which is badly needed at this particular time.

A combination study hall-library is not a satisfactory arrangement, and when space permits, this should be remedied. A library for students who are engaged in research or other special assignments should be made available without the confusion of study hall activity.

Some thought should be given to the offering of elective courses in art and music for grades nine through twelve. Our limited personnel and space makes this at the present time prohibitive.

I wish to take this opportunity to thank you, Mr. Fogg, and the Committee for your understanding and co-operation.

Sincerely yours,

HAROLD S. WOOD

REPORT OF PRINCIPAL OF MILTON E. EARLE SCHOOL

Mr. Laurence A. Fogg
Superintendent of Schools
Westport, Massachusetts

My dear Mr. Fogg:

In compliance with your request, I submit herewith my report for 1960.

The teaching staff at the Milton E. Earle School remained intact except for one change which was necessitated with the retirement of Miss Elizabeth R. Gifford in June.

Miss Gifford's many years of faithful service were characterized by her daily examples of kindness, patience, and human understanding. She contributed immeasurably to the moral development of growing boys and girls. Miss Gifford's "heart and soul" were always with her class. During her teaching days, she never lost sight of that faith and that inspiration which was the largest part of her life—that part which she shared with her pupils. Miss Gifford will always "belong" to the Milton E. Earle School.

Mrs. Mary Kelly was assigned to teach grade 3 and the position of "extra" teacher was eliminated.

Our total enrollment is now 210 pupils—a decrease of 12 pupils over last year's enrollment at this time. A smaller sixth grade group—38 pupils—accounts for this difference.

While there have been no definite changes in the curriculum, new texts in English, spelling and social studies have been placed in some grades in an attempt to strengthen our instruction in these areas.

Our physical plant facilities have been improved during the past year. We especially appreciate the black-topped drives, parking area facilities, and bubbler installations in several classrooms.

In addition, considerable school equipment and materials for which we are grateful, have been supplied. We acknowledge the following:

1. An intercommunication system. (This has been especially practical in expediting our bus dismissal procedure.)
2. A new duplicating machine.
3. 4 filing cabinets.
4. 2 new sets Compton's Encyclopedia.
5. Two portable record players.
6. A portable typewriter (newer model).

Our future needs include:

- *1. Enlargement of play area by acquisition of additional land.
- *2. More cafeteria space.
3. Installation of thermostats in every classroom to eliminate heating problem.

*(The academic improvements which we anticipate would result from accomplishing items 1 and 2 have been explained in previous reports).

An in-service program of curriculum planning is now underway. At present our teachers are working on a course of study in English for grades 1-6. Every teacher is concerned with a persistent search for continuous improvement of the instructional effort and an articulation of the teaching program on all levels.

The sincerity of purpose of our school personnel should be heartening to the citizens of Westport, who want and deserve an educational plan which concerns itself with the welfare of each child—his rights—his promise—and his contribution to our democracy.

Respectfully yours,

AUDREY L. TRIPP

REPORT OF PRINCIPAL OF ALICE A. MACOMBER SCHOOL

Mr. Laurence Fogg
Superintendent of Schools
Westport, Massachusetts

Dear Mr. Fogg:

The following is my report as Principal of the Alice A. Macomber School for 1960.

This year we have added one new teacher to our teaching staff. Miss Nancy Kogut, a graduate of the University of Massachusetts, is teaching one of the fourth grades.

Mrs. Marion Reed is working part of the day at the Macomber School concentrating her efforts in Joplin Reading and remedial work in Arithmetic with groups of fifth and sixth graders. She has one reading group from Grade 2. Due to a large enrollment in Grade One at the Greenwood Park School, she has been spending more than half of her day there. She is teaching Reading, Writing and Arithmetic at Greenwood Park School. Her assistance in clerical duties before school has been extremely helpful to us.

There have been no basic changes in the curriculum. We have continued our Joplin Reading program. Our teachers like the program and feel that the children can progress to higher reading levels.

As you know, our Physical Education program is inadequate.

We acknowledge with thanks:

Three new record players.

Autoharp (to be used for the vocal music program).

Our future needs:

Library books for our main library and for classroom libraries.

Painting of sash and trim at the Macomber School.

We are indeed fortunate to have our fine custodians and cafeteria workers, who are so helpful and cooperative, and so vitally concerned with our pupils' welfare.

Our elementary teachers have begun work on developing a Course of Study for each subject matter in each grade. They are now working on Language Arts. Definite written aims and objectives, and subject matter coverage, will promote uniformity in the subject matter taught. I know that all our teachers will find a definite course of study outline very helpful.

We are indeed fortunate in having such a loyal group of teachers showing a conscientious interest in improving our Westport educational system.

I would like to thank you, Mr. Fogg, and the School Committee for your help and guidance.

Respectfully submitted,

IRENE D. BOODRY

REPORT OF GUIDANCE DIRECTOR

Mr. Laurence Fogg
Superintendent of Schools
Westport
Massachusetts

Dear Mr. Fogg:

As Director of Guidance, I herewith submit my annual report:

Several important developments have occurred in the Guidance Department over the last year. First, the funds provided by Title V of the National Defense Education Act for guidance services have at last filtered down to the town level. Westport was among the towns and cities which qualified for this money. Several conditions were set up dealing with pupil-counselor ratio, services rendered to the student, etc. Since this department satisfied all the conditions, we were awarded 821 dollars to be used specifically for guidance. This year we are again participating in the Title V program, and to date have been awarded 317 dollars with, according to all reports, more to come later in the year.

Last year's money has already been put to good use. A large part of it was used for equipment needed when the guidance office moved into larger quarters. A new typewriter and table, file cabinet, desks and chairs were purchased. A photo-copying machine was also obtained, and already has proven to be invaluable for copying transcripts and other documents. This year's Federal grant has not been allocated but, I am sure, will be extremely useful in defraying necessary expenses.

Far more important, however, was the addition of another counselor in the Guidance Department.

Mrs. Ethel Liebmann, formerly an elementary teacher at North Westport School, was assigned to this department this September. Educated at Brooklyn College, Mrs. Liebmann is presently finishing her graduate work at Boston University where she is earning a Master's Degree in Guidance and Counseling. I am delighted to report that Ethel is an intelligent and sensitive counselor, and already has adopted a case load, especially among the girls, which is reflective of her eagerness.

Because guidance at Westport High was initiated and developed as a one-man department, it has taken a good deal of exploration and "feeling-our-way" to fit another counselor into the program, but now I feel my requests for another counselor have been fully justified. Already we are getting more visits from the female students than we have ever had before. This I am sure will result in far better guidance than was possible under the old set-up.

The physical layout of the offices leaves much to be desired. For ventilation and light purposes, it was necessary to have only a partial wall between my counseling area and Mrs. Liebmann's. This reduces the confidentiality one can maintain in counseling, and thus the effectiveness of the interview is often impaired. Mr. Donald Wilson, a supervisor in the State Department of Guidance, on his recent evaluation visit, was quite firm on this point. While he felt that on the whole we were operating an excellent department, the physical setup militated against a completely effective job. At the time we were planning the new offices, it seemed workable, but actual usage, as is so often the case, has proven us wrong. With an additional counselor, we are having a chance to try some new approaches.

One of these is still too young to evaluate the results, but it deals with the under-achiever on the junior high level. Realizing that if good study habits could be inculcated on this level many of our high school academic deficiency problems would be solved, we have begun work on identifying and counseling those junior high students with obvious ability but low grades. In a couple of instances some marked success can be seen, but overall, it is still much too early to report any significant results.

The period between this report and the last has seen a great deal of growth in the guidance department. I would like to take this opportunity to thank all those who have helped in this concern.

Respectfully submitted,

LLOYD A. BRIGHTMAN

REPORT OF ART SUPERVISOR

Mr. Laurence A. Fogg, Superintendent
Westport Public Schools
Central Village Mass.

Dear Mr. Fogg:

In answer to your communication of October 31, there is not much for me to call to your attention regarding your report to the School Committee.

Previously I suggested to you that there was a need for branching out into other media of expression and suggested materials. You know that you kindly have ordered them and the work is progressing satisfactorily.

My one regret is that I am spread out too thin. I could devote all my time to three different things—the elementary alone is a stimulating field—the junior high is also. There is no provision for art in the high school and it seems too bad that talented children must do without. I have started this past week to organize a club for high school boys and girls but have only thirty minutes a week to devote to it. The art room was mobbed by those desiring admittance and I am now in the process of weeding them out in order to help the most deserving.

It has been an exciting experience for me to work with the children of Westport and it is my regret that I cannot give more time to each class. I now am able to visit some classes only once a month. (This is true only at the Earle School in response to a request from Miss Tripp to make the periods longer and less frequent).

Thank you for all your kindness and cooperation. It has been a pleasure to work with you and to know that there can be such wonderful cooperation from everyone—especially the elementary teachers who have worked so very hard in the art field.

Very sincerely yours,

MARION H. ECKHARDT

REPORT OF MUSIC SUPERVISOR

Mr. Laurence A. Fogg
Superintendent of Schools
Westport, Massachusetts

Dear Sir:

In reply to your request for my Annual Report, I submit the following:

In order to progress further, a program of enrichment and expansion is necessary on all grade levels.

In the first six grades, our singing program is well established. This part of our program meets what I consider to be very high standards of Music Education. From grade one through six, a basic music program should include singing, playing simple instruments, rhythmic and creative activities as well as a good listening program. This would bring about a year-by-year musical development of all children. We now have all of the necessary equipment to put such a program into effect, as established by the "National Conference of Music Educators". Each class should be visited once a week, in a revolving program that would allow for this enrichment.

The day is long past when one person can adequately serve all music classes from grade one through twelve.

I cannot say too much about the very conscientious effort that all Elementary Teachers are putting forth in the teaching of music. They are all very serious about our Music Program and in every instance they give their fullest cooperation to the Supervisor. We are most fortunate in having these well experienced teachers in our Elementary Schools.

Enrichment and expansion is also necessary in our Junior High School classes. There is a certain joy in working with these young people who are so eager for a more varied program. This cannot be given in the allotted time of one music period a week. The Westport Junior High School is unique in this respect. These classes should meet at least twice weekly.

The only music offered in the High School Grades is extra-curricular. These are the choral groups that rehearse during activity period. The musicianship of the talented and the most interested of our young people can and should be improved by offering a course in general or basic music in the High School grades on an elective basis. In such a course it is possible to teach a considerable amount of music theory and music literature in one year's work. We could graduate more people who understand and love good music. In addition, a one year basic music course should be open to and required of all students regardless of talent. Such a class should sing, play instruments, listen to music of all kinds to seek a broad and varied experience with music. This is a large order, but not so large if we keep the education of girls and boys foremost in our thinking.

I earnestly request that a special teacher of music be appointed to work in the Junior and Senior High School Grades, in order that the above program can be put into effect.

I wish to express my sincere appreciation to you for the materials and teaching aids that you obtained for our Music Department. I especially want to mention the new piano which has been needed for such a long period. This instrument is now being used in all Junior High School Music Classes. The students are all very happy with it and I am sure they would want me to express their thanks. I am also grateful for the new music books purchased for the Elementary classes. This is the first change in music texts that we have had since I came to Westport. This new Music Series has all of the materials necessary to put the enrichment program in the grades that I have mentioned in this report. Therefore, I sincerely hope that with another music teacher appointed, I will be able to go forward with this work.

In closing may I again express my appreciation to you and to the members of the Westport School Committee for their fine support of our Vocal Music Department.

Respectfully submitted,

RITA M. GRIFFIN
